WORDS: BRIAN VINER

THREE CHEERS FOR CLIFF!

SOMEHOW, John Ratzenberger has crammed several lifetimes into one. He is an actor, famous for playing Cliff, the mailman in Cheers – as well as an accomplished TV producer and director. He runs a production company, which is about to make a comedy film in Ireland starring his old Cheers pal George Wendt. He invented a type of biodegradable packaging called eco-pak, which is in use all over the world. And moved by the suffering of several relatives, he helped to found the American Diabetes Association, which has raised $100 million over the last seven years. Specifically, he heads the Ratzenberger Diabetes Research Fund, which has set up an internet network so that researchers into diabetes across the world can communicate, and not simply replicate the same experiments. And he set up a website (childrenwithdiabetes.com) so that children suffering from diabetes can share their experiences. To fund it, he spent last summer on a sponsored motorbike journey from New York to Las Vegas. In short, he makes your average renaissance man look like Wayne Slob. But it is as Cliff that we and America knows him. He did not become fully aware of what a cultural phenomenon Cheers was, he says, until the 200th episode was marked by a parade in Boston. 'It was the largest crowd in the history of the city of Boston. About 500,000 people turned out, which was a bigger crowd than the Pope drew, and a bigger crowd than when the Boston Red Sox won the World Series.' Ratzenberger has done well out of Cheers, to put it mildly. And he is happy to acknowledge the fact, naming his holiday home on a Pacific island off the coast of Washington state, Casa de Residuale (the house of the repeat fees). But oddly enough, it was in Britain that he cut his teeth as an actor. And they were not all he cut. 'I originally came here for three weeks and got a job trimming trees,' he says. 'In fact I have just walked through Soho Square, where I saw the very trees that I cut in 1972.' With another American, he then took an improvised comedy show round Britain and Europe, and stayed for 10 years, moving into television and even directing episodes of our own dear Crown Court. Then he returned to America, and in due course, was offered the part of Cliff Clavin, barfly. Of the 269 episodes of Cheers, does he have a favourite? 'Yeah, it's the one in which Cliff sells shoes to the other guys from a catalogue, and they all squeak. I loved that episode.' It happens to be one that he directed, but characteristically, he plays that down. He is – as nobody ever said of Cliff – quite a guy.

FAMILY AFFAIR

AS Jeremy Paxman is to Bamber Gascoigne, so is Alan Titchmarsh to Robert Robinson as he takes over one of TV's most venerable quiz shows, Ask the Family. The show ran on BBC1 from 1967 to 1984, and Titchmarsh recalls that the adult contestants always seemed to be either bank managers or librarians. Moreover they were almost all white and middle-class. But times change. In the new series, the 32 families taking part are much more racially and socially diverse. Titchmarsh himself is married with two teenage daughters, and so would qualify as a contestant, but doesn't fancy the idea. 'I am pretty much innumerate,' he says. 'But I'm very good at reading the answers!' UK Gold, Sundays from 4th, 5.25pm.

OPRAH HATES MY SHOW. GOOD FOR HER

IT ISN'T surprising to learn that Jerry Springer was not greatly offended by revelations of Bill Clinton's sexual peccadilloes. For one thing, it takes more than details of consensual sex between two adults to outrage the presenter of shows with themes such as I Slept with My 12-Year-Old's Ex. Secondly, Springer was himself a politician associated with sleaze when he was elected Mayor of Cincinnati 20 years ago despite or because of his admission that he'd had an extra-marital liaison with a prostitute. The third reason is that Springer is a contributor to the Democratic Party who recently tried to persuade Springer to run for office. 'And who knows, I might just do it,' Springer tells me, adding, tongue in cheek, that 'the presidency is not a possibility because I was born in England.' In any case, he has no intention of leaving The Jerry Springer Show and dismisses the recent criticism by Oprah Winfrey. 'I love Oprah,' he says. 'We both live in Chicago and I see her at events. So she hates my show. Good for her.' Springer is practised in defending his show, even from the charge that he gives air time to racists and anti-Semites. His parents fled to London from Nazi Germany in 1939, and some of his relatives were murdered in the Holocaust, so he might be expected to draw the line at having white supremacists. But no. 'I live and die by the First Amendment,' he says, referring to the right of free speech in America. 'You cannot be a liberal and then ban people from your show because you dislike their views.' Fair enough. But to lower the tone, which show has he most enjoyed? 'I was amused by the fella who was being stalked by a gay guy, so cut off his penis to deter him. I mean, why not change your phone number?' The Jerry Springer Show, Living, see daily listings for details.

COOGAN'S RUN

BRENDAN COOGAN, co-presenter of The Late Lounge, is one of six children. One of his brothers is Steve Coogan. With due apologies, I point out that no interview can be complete without a mention of his older sibling. 'That's right,' he says. 'So what do you want to know about our Kevin?' A sense of humour clearly runs in the Coogan family, but Brendan says that Steve – his elder by four years – was always the chief comedian. 'He used to spend hours in the bathroom perfecting his Sean Connery impression,' says Brendan. 'He did make us laugh a lot – sometimes not intentionally. He's always been an eccentric.' Brendan started in TV as a researcher on ITV's Blind Date. He confides that quite a few Blind Date couples were jollied along by alcohol. Brendan's big break came with a slot as a reporter on the ITV kids' show It's Not Just Saturday with Dannii Minogue. He then presented The Blaggers Guide on Channel 5, once blagging his way into a bingo hall and convincing fellow punters that he was a senior citizen and female. 'They honestly believed I was a woman in my seventies, which I'm quite proud of, seeing that I'm 6ft 3ins and 15 stone.' Bravo, weeknights, 10.00pm

A RIGHT ROYLE AFFAIR

JIMMY McGOVERN, creator of Cracker, was one of the millions of people bowled over by The Royle Family, the six-part comedy drama set almost entirely in the front-room of a Manchester council house. 'I was gobsmacked,' McGovern told me. 'I hadn't been that impressed with a comedy since Fawlty Towers.' McGovern praised the writers – Caroline Aherne, Craig Cash and Henry Normal – for having the courage to concentrate on character rather than the plot. Indeed, storylines were practically non-existent. It used to be said of Seinfeld that it was a comedy 'about nothing' but next to The Royle Family – the format of which, intriguingly, was recently sold to America – Seinfeld might have been plotted by Dostoevsky. The credit for this belongs to Caroline Aherne, who rose to fame as Mrs Merton. She conceived the project and played chain-smoking Denise Royle. 'Caroline drove it,' says her co-writer Cash, who also played Denise's fiancé Dave Best. 'And she wanted no strands of story. We'd be going, "Please let a little something happen, Caroline," and she'd go, "No, we've got to keep it simple." On the day she agreed to go out of the front room into the kitchen, me and Henry had a party.' 'The BBC,' adds Aherne, 'wanted us to have locations, to go down the pub and that. But I remember an episode of Till Death Us Do Part, when they went to a restaurant. Alf Garnett was so brilliant but in that restaurant he seemed like a caricature, he was too big. Characters like that need to stay in their own world.' The BBC, moreover, wanted to record The Royle Family before a studio audience, but Aherne furiously argued – to the point of tears – that they were wrong. Eventually they backed down. 'Caroline is very unusual,' says Mark Gorton, who used to produce the Mrs Merton Show. 'A lot of TV celebrities only use their clout to improve the deal they're on. She doesn't. She uses it on creative issues.' As evidence that she puts her art before her bank balance, Aherne even considered buying back from the BBC the first episode of The Royle Family, which she hated. 'But when they told me how much it cost [around £200,000] I went, "Oh, it's not bad, actually."' Aherne is a wealthy woman now, with a mews house in a smart part of west London, and it is tempting to say that her achievements belie her humble Mancunian roots. On the other hand, she was always an achiever. She got nine As in her O-Levels and her IQ ('I wish I had a pound for every time she's told me about her bloody IQ,' groans Cash) was measured at 176 – genius level. Around the same time, she saw Mike Leigh's television play Abigail's Party. 'That's what made me want to write,' she says. 'I could recite great chunks of dialogue. But I hated the bit where Lawrence dies. It was so unnecessary, and that was on my mind with The Royle Family. Don't put in too much plot. Such extraordinary things happen in sitcoms, but real life is real people sitting at home saying funny things.' UK Play, from Wednesday 7th, 11.00pm

The brainy bunch

Meet the Morgans. Could 30 minutes of nailbiting pressure and the risk of public humiliation really be their idea of fun for all the family? Cable Guide follows the foursome as they make their TV debut

MONDAY afternoon at TV Centre in London and the Morgan family from Wiltshire are about to take their places on the set of UK Gold's Ask the Family. Dick, Ruthie and 15-year-old twins Poppy and Daniel have made it onto the show after hearing about it through their school. It's the family's first time in front of the TV cameras and they're a little nervous, but confident.

The classic BBC quiz show is back after an absence of 15 years. It originally ran from 1967 to 1984, when Robert Robertson was posing the questions. Now, Alan Titchmarsh is the host and, as the production crew get everything in order, he's offering the contestants a few final words of encouragement.

The Morgans are up against the Coates family – Marilyn, Matt, Sam and Bob. Both foursomes have their eyes on the grand prize – a lavish home computer system. Losers walk away with only an Ask the Family mug for their efforts. But the prizes aren't the only reason the Morgans were keen to take part. 'We just thought it would be good fun,' says Ruthie. 'I loved the original show and I always wanted to go on it.'

The lights go up and suddenly the set is bathed in blue and pink. The familiar theme music starts, Alan has a quick chat with the families, then it's fingers on the buzzers and the battle begins.

For the next 30 minutes or so the contestants are answering questions on every subject from 'Name the Thunderbirds pilots' to 'How many minutes are there in a day?' The Morgans are on a roll. Ruthie is so quick that the buzzer can't cope and there's a short break while the crew sort it out.

Going into the final round, the Morgans have a healthy lead. But there are still two minutes to go; it's general knowledge and the Coates family are in with a definite chance …

Later, the two families wind down over lunch with the other contestants from the day's taping. 'It was really good fun, much more enjoyable than I expected it to be,' says Ruthie. 'Alan is really lovely and made us feel very relaxed.' Poppy and Daniel agree and say they're looking forward to seeing themselves on TV.

It's a quickfire show, full of picture puzzles, wordgames, brainteasers and general knowledge posers. Was there a family training programme to prepare for the contest? 'We knew pretty much what the format was from the audition,' says Ruthie. 'But the only training we did was a few games of Trivial Pursuit.'

So, did the Morgans make it through to the next round? Will they beat all comers to take home the grand prize? Or will the kitchen cabinet back in Wiltshire soon be filled with Ask the Family mugs? Fingers on your buzzers please …

WATCH OUT!

- Sky One's Dream Team wraps up its second season next month with a spectacular climax as Harchester United get to the FA Cup final – against Man United! The special episode is currently in production, with Wembley Stadium one of the locations being used for filming.

- Following the success of UK Style's A House in France, the programme makers are heading off to sunny Spain to renovate a building there. A House in Spain starts filming at the property near Malaga in the summer and the series will be shown in September.

- As the classic Seventies detective series Charlie's Angels starts on Granada Plus this month, Watch Out hears that Drew Barrymore is set to don lip gloss and appear in a movie version of the show. The film will reportedly be directed by Frank Coraci, who helmed last year's movie hit, The Wedding Singer.

- Disney's 1995 smash hit animated movie Pocahontas premieres on the Disney Channel in June. The movie, which won an Oscar for Best Song, features the voices of Mel Gibson, Billy Connolly and David Ogden Stiers, among others.

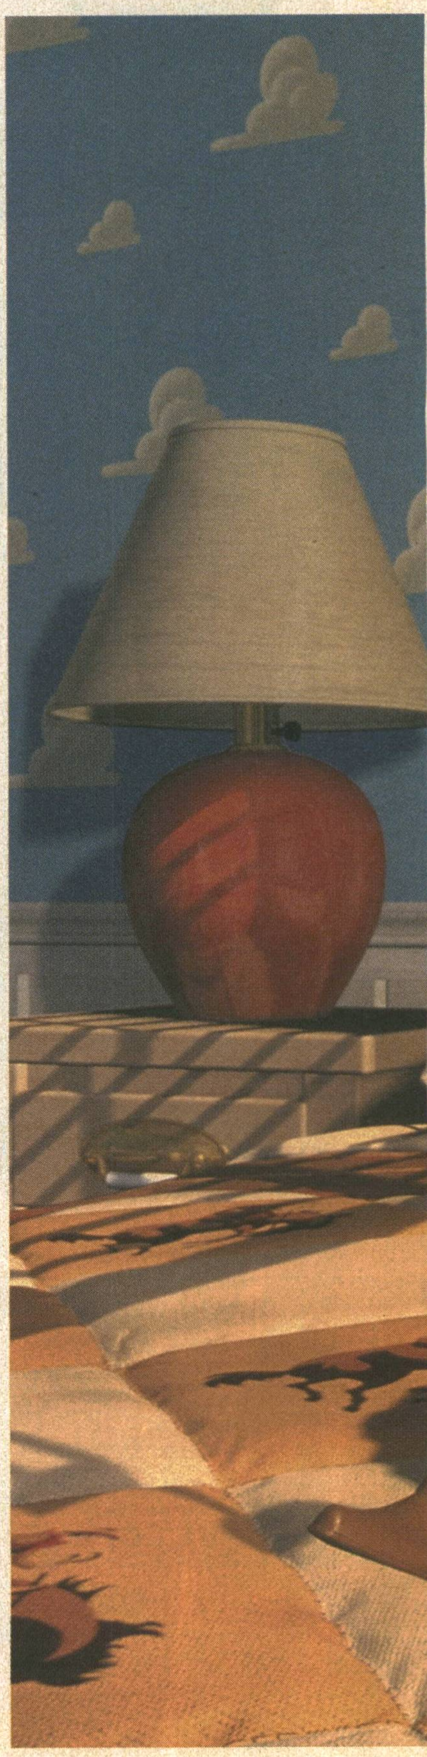
LIGHT YEARS

The huge success of Toy Story with kids and adults has spawned a sequel. While Toy Story 2 is released here next year, you can watch the original on Disney Channel this Easter. Pauline McLeod catches up with the film's cast and producers



THE buzz word was Buzz. Buzz Lightyear. Every child wanted one. Grown men were caught fighting over the last Buzz in the toy store. Parents flew to New York to try to locate one.

And get this! Even Tom Hanks – the voice of Buzz's nemesis Woody in the monster hit Toy Story – phoned Disney in desperation because he couldn't find a chrome version of the spaceman action figure for his own son.

Today, more than two years down the line, Tim Allen, the voice of that super-cool, flashy toy, can still turn a room full of unruly brats into one of rapt attention simply by uttering the line: 'My name is Buzz Lightyear. I come in peace.'

And as Tim finishes a day's filming on the Hollywood set of his super-successful sitcom, Home Improvement, his beaming grin speaks volumes for the success of Toy Story. A sort of macho-man-next-door meets cheeky schoolboy, he injected playful, pithy irreverence into Buzz which helped the movie go to infinity and beyond the wildest financial dreams of Disney's accountants.

Nearly $360m in world-wide box office takings – and still counting!

When you take into account the limitless merchandising opportunities for the extraordinary movie – made with the sophisticated computer-generated imagery – you understand why toy manufacturers Mattel, who had refused to allow their mega-babe, Barbie, to take part in the original film, rapidly changed their tune when she was invited to do a 'cameo' in Toy Story 2, premiering in the US in the autumn.

So, what about Buzz and Barbie as an item in the sequel? 'I've worked on it,' admits Tim, 'but she's Beach Barbie. There ain't that much up there, you know. Bo Peep's much smarter.'

And indeed, Woody's girlfriend, Bo Peep (the voice of actress Annie Potts), who is a calming influence amid a toy closet full of chaos, does get a bigger piece of the action in the sequel.

Pete Docter, supervising animator on both films, explains: 'Woody's girlfriend in the original was going to be Barbie. We had this idea that he was stuck in Sid's room and things were looking really dark, when in comes Barbie in her pink Corvette. We were going to play her like Linda Hamilton from Terminator 2 where she says to Woody: "Get in the car if you want to live."

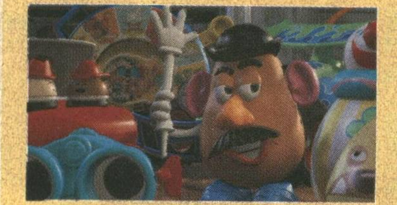
'Woody kind of falls in love with her and asks why she is helping him and what she has against Sid. She shows him her neck and where she's been beheaded by Sid, who has also stapled her neck back together, and mutters: "Any other stoopid questions?"

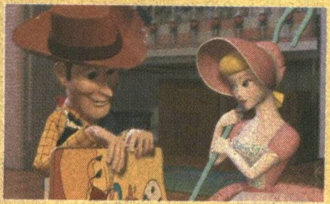
'For some reason Mattel didn't go for the idea.'

In fact, originally, Woody was to be a ventriloquist's dummy but that idea was eventually rejected as being too creepy and he materialised into a lanky cowboy with a laid-back drawl. Buzz was to be a cool, Thirties, retro art deco sort of toy but as Tim's part was developed into that of the hip new toy in the closet he was re-designed to be more Boy Racer in a Spacesuit.

And, naturally, Buzz became the hippest toy for any kid to have in their own closet. Tim Allen says: 'Of course, I joke about this all the time with Tom [Hanks] because nobody wanted Woody ...' The 45-year-old actor laughs so hard you begin to realise why

AHEAD!





PHOTOS: ©DISNEY

The toys are back in town! Mr Potato Head (Don Rickles), who has a tendency to lose his own body parts, puts his hand up, while Woody (Tom Hanks) and Bo Peep (Annie Potts) share a rather romantic moment together production executives eventually banned the two movie stars from working in the same recording studio because of Tim's, er, disruptive influence.

Described affectionately by the film's producer, Bonnie Arnold, as 'brassy with no shame', the hugely likeable award-winning actor and celebrated stand-up comic explains: 'I was fooling around and Tom thought it was real funny and someone said, just like a schoolmaster would: "If you don't shut up I'm going to have to separate you."

'Hey, I like making jokes and as soon as I heard that I just carried on, so they separated us.'

Originally designed as a TV special, Toy Story failed to get funding and was developed into a kind of road picture before ending up as a buddy movie with the 'baddie' being the evil Sid – actually modelled on two of Toy Story's executives when they were young.

Toy Story 2 promises to be just as eye-popping as the original. 'I meet my alter ego – a new Buzz called Alter Buzz,' says Tim. 'It's a real sweet story because Woody gets kidnapped by a toy collector. He used to be an old toy but now he's so old he's a collectable and valuable and I'm not worth anything. Woody doesn't want to come back to the rest of us because he's being treated very well. But, hey, we round him up.'

ER, Sky One, Thursday 15th, 9.30pm

The day has finally come for George Clooney to depart from County General. Pauline McLeod talks to Anthony Edwards about the end of an ER era

We'll all miss gorgeous George

WAY to go, Dr Ross! We've always known you're a loose cannon, Doug. And it's not just Nurse Hathaway who loves you for it – millions of hearts will be breaking as you make your final exit.

But in the eyes of the powers that be, you've screwed up royally this time. OK, so the poor patient at the centre of your current disciplinary action was terminally ill but why, with your blemished track record, give him that unauthorised painkiller?

Apart from putting him out of some of his misery, one might argue you were being just a tiny bit arrogant.

The jury's out on the morality issue – the word is you'll be back in ER now and then next year – but for now the top-doc-on-the-box slot is handed over to Dr Mark Greene.

Anthony Edwards, who plays Dr Greene, may not be blessed with the same movie star looks as George Clooney. In the flesh, though, Anthony is heaps more handsome than the nerdy-looking chief resident of the ER he portrays. And what he is blessed with is a pay packet to die for.

Golden-handcuffed to the series for the next three years for a reputed $35million (a staggering $245,000 per episode), he is said to be the highest paid TV actor in the world, excluding sitcoms.

So, what can he tell us about Dr Ross's departure? Charming and mild-mannered, the 36-year-old actor says (not altogether too helpfully): 'I just shot my final scene with George in Chicago. Let's just say he goes kind of quietly and under a cloud – a different one to the one he was under last season – but a cloud nevertheless.

'Does he marry Hathaway? I'm not going to tell you. You're absolutely wasting your time with those sort of questions because you're not going to get the answers to them,' he grins.

Unlike Dr Greene who doesn't have a life (apart from saving lives in the emergency room of County General), Anthony is blissfully married to Jeanine Lobell, creator of Stila cosmetics. The couple have two children – Esme, two, and five-year-old Bailey.

As well as his duties in ER, Anthony has also found time to do other things – the gentle romantic comedy Don't Go Breaking My Heart opened in cinemas here in February and next month sees the release of the big screen comedy-drama Playing by Heart, in which he features alongside Sean Connery, Gillian Anderson and Dennis Quaid.

He has nothing but praise to heap on his colleague Clooney, who is also his golfing buddy.

'No, it doesn't bother me that he has such a high profile. Media coverage is not something that happens because of an act of God.

'George, in a very clear way, took the energy from ER and turned it into publicity for himself and created a film career. If the goal was to be the most famous person in the world, I guess you could find a way to get upset, but you know, it doesn't make me feel inadequate in any way to see George's success.

'It makes me proud because he sought a particular goal and is now reaching it. Not only that, he stayed with the show when a lot of actors would have left. For the last couple of years, he's been working seven days a week.'

Rather like some of the real-life ER teams that Anthony admires so much. He has visited LA County General to research his role. 'They know they're saving lives and they know what they do is amazing, but they don't talk about it in any kind of boastful way,' he says.

'They're kind of the cowboys of medicine, because they like to go in, rock 'n' roll and get out.'

Leaping beauty

Dancing Queen: Darcey Bussell, the undisputed star of the Royal Ballet

PHOTOS: ANTHONY CRICKMAY/CAMERA PRESS; PERFORMANCE

At 29, Darcey Bussell has achieved global recognition as a prima ballerina – she's also been a Vogue cover girl and has recently screen tested with Harrison Ford. Hilary Bonner talks to the multi-faceted Royal Ballet star

DARCEY BUSSELL has a mission – it's to make dance accessible to the widest possible audience. And bringing major classic ballets onto television is as important to Darcey as a glittering night at Covent Garden.

Darcey is the undisputed star of the Royal Ballet – and she is very different to any prima ballerina that they have ever produced. There is nothing precious about 29-year-old Darcey, and she deplores elitism in the arts. 'The best thing is when I get a letter saying, "I really didn't think I was going to like ballet, but I loved it,"' she says. 'Ballet is exciting and fun. It's important to interest younger generations.'

Darcey has the charisma to bring them in. She has just completed a tour, Dance Bites, of unlikely places from Darlington in the North to Truro in the South West. 'We couldn't do classic ballets because the stages were too small, so we chose three great brand new ballets, which was really exciting.'

But Darcey is much more than a ballerina. She is a media star who once posed for Vogue magazine, and already seems to have packed a lifetime into her 10-year career.

It all began at 19 when she became an overnight sensation with her debut as principal in Kenneth Macmillan's classic ballet The Prince of the Pagodas (shown over Easter). Since then she has taken the ballet world by storm and has not only been awarded an OBE but also been immortalised at Madame Tussauds. Last year she even auditioned for a movie with Harrison Ford.

There are other things too. She has a husband, city financier Angus Forbes, and one day she wants to start a family. But not yet, not while there are dances to dance. 'I think I would regret it for ever if I didn't have children,' she says. 'But I can't imagine that I will be dancing after 35. There should still be time.'

'I love my job,' she continues. 'And there are still so many ballets I would like to dance.'

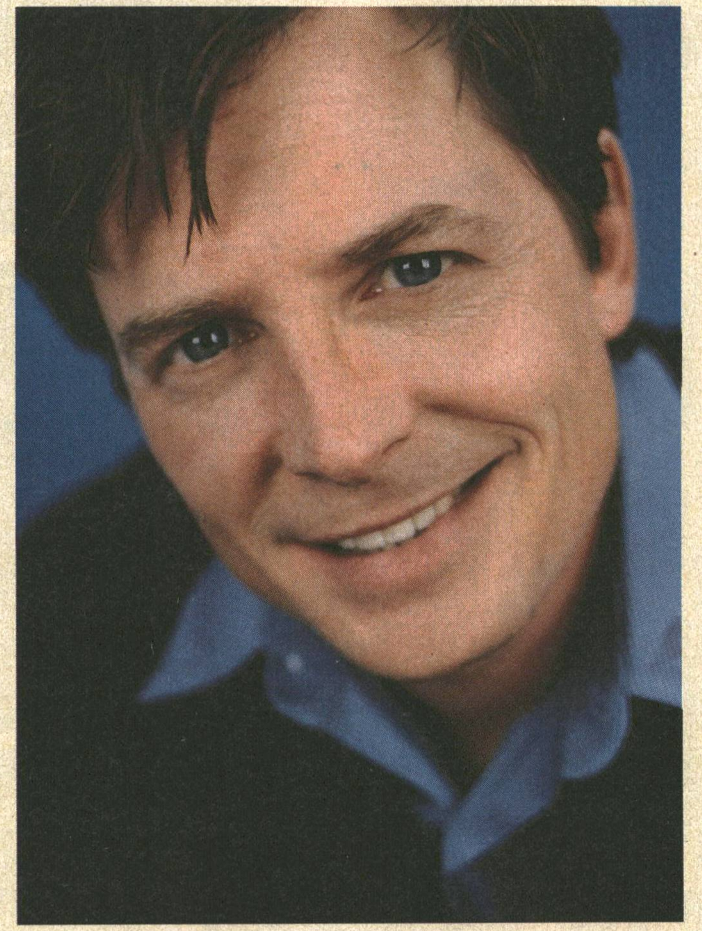
Getting into a spin: Stuart Bondek (Alan Ruck), the Mayor's chief of staff, and Deputy Mayor Michael Flaherty, (Michael J Fox)

Twenty-first century Fox

Despite his battle with Parkinson's disease, Michael J Fox is looking forward to the future with hope. Words: Ivan Waterman



PHOTOS: NBC, KENNETH WILLARDT/OUTLINE PRESS

HE'S the baby-faced comic star who spent 20 years making people laugh. But Michael J Fox is also used to wiping away tears of pain in his battle against crippling Parkinson's disease. The future may sometimes look bleak, but he is determined to fight the illness that is threatening his career. And he believes medical research will come up with an answer to the killer disease by the time he is 50.

According to close friends he is even considering taking his trauma into his TV series Spin City – in which he plays a scheming deputy mayor – to offer encouragement to fellow sufferers.

Softly spoken Fox, 37, remains non-committal about the kind of slant he could give to Parkinson's. 'I want to do something,' he says, 'but I am not sure what.

'What we can't do is trivialise something like this in a sitcom. We have to be very careful. You have a lot of power to do good in this situation or do bad. Just don't do very bad.'

The diminutive 5' 4" Canadian has lived with the illness for eight years and is on medication to control the shaking symptoms of this nervous-system disorder. He didn't realise how ill he was until he suffered tremors on the movie Doc Hollywood.

But he kept the result of tests to himself. 'It wasn't a dark secret,' he says. 'I just had to deal with this myself.

'I had this mental box I was putting stuff into until the box was so full it couldn't take any more. Now maybe I can help people and my family by talking about my illness.'

He found the strength to go on from his actress wife Tracy Pollan and his three children, four-year-old twins Aquinnah Kathleen and Schuyler Frances, and Sam, aged nine.

In order to keep working on Spin City he devised a string of personal 'tricks'. He says: 'I can touch things, which stops the tremors for 15 seconds or so, or just keep moving around. Whatever happens, I won't let this depress me. I can sit in a chair and feel pain in every muscle but I won't give in.'

Fox made his name in the American TV hit Family Ties playing yuppie icon Alex P Keaton. Then he became a Hollywood 'player' as time traveller Marty McFly in Steven Spielberg's Back to the Future trilogy.

But he grew disillusioned with his Tinseltown lifestyle and, after a succession of movie flops, he wanted to head back to the small screen.

'Before the twins were born I was making movies that were solely driven by the idea that they would make a lot of money,' he says. 'Nobody seemed to care about the script. Then I started slowing down. I was financially secure and I could do what I wanted to do. I didn't panic.'

Instead, he sought out prize supporting roles in films such as The American President and Mars Attacks! He said: 'That changed people's perception of me. I didn't have to be the big star like Michael Douglas or Jack Nicholson.'

Spin City gave him back his star status. The highly rated comedy series has just earned Michael a second Golden Globe award for his portrayal of spin master Michael Flaherty, who is responsible for keeping Mayor Randall Winston (Barry Bostwick) in office and out of the scandal sheets.

In the meantime, he faces the future wearing a brave smile. Most of all, he enjoys being with his family, though he confesses that having two growing daughters scares him to death. He says: 'It's only recently that I have realised that one day, not far away, they will be women.

'I know how boys are. I know how I was! There's no way I am going to let them go out with boys. I will barricade them in.' He pauses and roars: 'Hold everything! I feel another sitcom coming on.'

King Richard

Think of the great names of British cinema and one immediately springs to mind. Richard Attenborough's long and distinguished career makes him the perfect choice to front Sky Premier's Millennium Movies poll. Interview: Hilary Bonner

RICHARD ATTENBOROUGH has a track record in films that reads like a history of British cinema. And do not be fooled by the Dickie Darling label. He also has clout – and he knows how to use it. No one could be better suited to front Sky's Millennium Movies poll – and no one could be more effective.

He has already enticed a host of Britain's top thespians, including Ralph and Joseph Fiennes, Kenneth Branagh, Anthony Hopkins and Diana Rigg, to be filmed talking about their three favourite movies. They are all doing so without a fee.

But Richard Attenborough has a motive. He is in charge of the RADA Millennium Project, pledged to raise £2million a year for two years in order to secure a Lottery grant of £25m in order to rebuild and modernise the academy.

Sky offered to pay him a straightforward commercial fee for his service. Lord Attenborough turned them down. 'Being a mercenary bastard I said to them, "Now look, if you will pay a quarter of a million pounds into the RADA fund, I will not only front it but go to all these people and tell them that is what will happen if they are prepared to choose their favourite movies for you."'

And so it is that Sky is able to parade a stunning package of some of the most glittering names in cinema. Because when Dickie asks, almost everyone in showbusiness is inclined to say yes.

He hasn't approached any Hollywood names yet, but talks about the possibility with a glint in his eyes that suggests that Sky may have to come up with an even better offer before he does so.

You don't get to be Richard Attenborough by being a slouch. He has appeared in 65 movies, produced and directed eight, including major successes like Shadowlands, Cry Freedom and Gandhi, and either produced or directed several more. Over the years he has been inundated with awards and honour, perhaps most memorably his peerage and Best Director and Picture Oscars for Gandhi.

It therefore seems surprising that the great man's career began in a basement beneath a brothel off the Edgware Road in London.

'I left school when I was 16 because of the war and my parents managed to get me put up for a scholarship to RADA,' he explains. 'I got it but ended up with just £2.50 a week to live on and I used to sit in my little basement beneath the brothel watching the girls go by.'

Dickie was called up in 1942 and joined the air force. 'It was as quick as that,' he says. 'Being only 16 when the war began, I think all my family had thought it unlikely that I would ever see any action.'

In fact, Dickie ended up as an air gunner cameraman. His job was to photograph bomber targets before and after they were bombed.

He makes light of it. 'I actually did very little before the war ended.' And he prefers to talk about the other aspect of his war, when like so many other British actors, he began to make films, the first being In Which We Serve.

'I met the Boulting brothers during the war, indeed John Boulting was my commanding officer,' he says. 'And right after the war he suggested we make Brighton Rock because he'd seen me in it in the theatre.'

At the age of 76, Richard Attenborough still bounces with enthusiasm when he talks about cinema. And he is still working, with no plans to stop.

His latest directorial effort is out later this year. Grey Owl stars Pierce Brosnan as an English conman who spent his life pretending to be a Canadian Indian. The film took Dickie seven years to get off the ground. He specialises in long-term projects and he doesn't mind a bit.

'Films are my passion,' he says. 'I am so fortunate to have been able to make a career out of them.'

He is, of course, famous for his inclination to be emotional, and it wouldn't be an interview with Dickie if tears did not come into it somewhere. The great man does not disappoint.

The hit film Shakespeare in Love, starring Joe Fiennes and Gwyneth Paltrow, is one he was desperate to acquire the rights to.

'Even thinking about making it makes me want to go into the corner and weep,' he says woefully. 'When I heard about it six years ago or so, I thought it was such a wonderful idea I bid every penny that I possessed to try and buy it. I was prepared to sell my body, let alone my soul.'

For once, Dickie did not get his way.

Generally, his life remains a staggeringly successful one.

MILLENNIUM MOVIES

He married his wife Sheila 54 years ago and they moved into the Richmond house that is still their home 50 years ago.

'We arrived there from a one-roomed basement in Chelsea and all our belongings fitted into the hall,' he recalls. 'The house seemed so huge and empty. Sheila was expecting our eldest son and she just burst into tears. "What have we done," she said. "The expenditure, the cost. We are really crazy."'

But Dickie's career and family life went from strength to strength. He has three children and seven grandchildren. All his children and his TV presenter brother David live within 15 minutes of his home.

And last year the boy who left school at 16 was made Chancellor of Sussex University, something of which he is immensely proud and still a bit surprised by.

He was the only member of his rather intellectual family not to have had a university education. And Dickie cannot help thinking of the reaction of his father, an academic who finished his career as principal of Leicester University College.

'If my old man were alive,' says Lord Attenborough with a chuckle, 'he'd laugh so much he'd wet himself.'

In its nationwide Millennium Movies poll, Sky is asking viewers to choose their three all-time favourite films. Richard Attenborough has chosen his own three only with some reluctance: The Gold Rush starring Charlie Chaplin, On the Waterfront starring Marlon Brando, and Steven Spielberg's Schindler's List.

'But it is so hard,' he says. 'I think people should have been asked to choose five films. Really, a John Ford Western, an epic and one of those great old MGM musicals ought to be on any list before you start.'

SPOILT FOR CHOICE

When Telewest launches its new digital service later this year, customers can expect a whole new world of television viewing. But how do you decide what to watch?

Simple, if you subscribe to our digital service, you'll be able to consult Telewest's Electronic TV guide.

With the guide's user-friendly format, navigating the wealth of digital television will be made easy. The kind of features to expect are:

- An on-screen viewing guide, which gives customers a view of all programmes one week ahead.
- Parental control to ensure your children's viewing is monitored.
- Channels listed under headings, such as movies, sports, documentaries, comedies, etc, to help you to find the programmes of your choice.
- Favourite channels saved on the number of your choice to get to your viewing choice more quickly.

In the meantime, if you have our Cable Internet service, you can plan your viewing using the Cable Guide website. It offers such useful additional information as the most up-to-date listings for all UK channels (including terrestrial), programme lists 28 days in advance and key word search, for instance you can search for which musicals are playing. The Cable Guide website is at http:/www.cableguide.co.uk.

CABLE INTERNET

GET CONNECTED to the information superhighway with Telewest's Cable Internet. There's a wealth of information and entertainment at your fingertips and Cable Internet offers unlimited Internet access, 15 e-mail addresses, 5Mb of web space to build your own web page and easy-to-use software. What's more, we don't provide technical support through a premium rate number – all calls to our Internet experts are charged at local rate.

HELPFUL HINT

Unleash the power of your Cable Internet experience by trying out some of the latest software from our TUCOWS mirror website. Why not download and try the latest e-mail, chat and browser software or obtain the multimedia tools to help you build your own web page? Visit the site at http://tucows.cabeinet.co.uk web site. Should you need help setting up the latest Internet Software, our website shows you how to do it. Take a look at: www.cabeinet.co.uk/html/support/supp3.htm.

Get more from your phone

EACH month we show how Telewest Cable Telephone can do much more for you than make and receive calls by focusing on two of the services that can be yours for very little extra cost. Make your phone work for you.

VoiceMail*
Takes messages when you are on or away from your phone and lets you know when a call was received (£1.50 a month)

Number Display †
Shows you the caller's number when the phone rings (£1 a month)

Speed Dialling
Store up to 30 numbers under short codes (£1 a month)

Call Waiting*
Alerts you if someone is trying to call when you're already on the phone (£1 a month)

3-Way Calling
Allows you to talk with two other people at the same time (£1 a month)

Reminder Call

1471/141
141 withholds your number and 1471 tells you the number and time of the last caller to your phone (free)

Call Divert

Call Barring
Prevents particular groups of numbers being dialled from your phone, or prevents calls coming in (£1 a month)

Call Divert

- A useful service that ensures you never miss an important call when you're away from home. Whether you're on holiday or away on business, you can arrange for your calls to be redirected to any number you choose.
- When diverting calls, the person calling you is only charged for the part of the call to your home. You will be charged for the part of the call from your home to the divert destination.
- There are three ways to use Call Divert:
  Call Divert, which diverts all calls to another number anywhere in the UK (even mobile phones).

  Divert on No Reply, which diverts your calls to any other number if you do not answer within 15 seconds.

  Divert on Busy, which diverts your calls to any other number you choose, if your number is engaged.
- Try Call Divert for only £2 per month (33p per month cheaper than BT).

Reminder Call

- You've got a train to catch early in the morning and you need to make sure that you get up on time. What are you going to do? Use your telephone Reminder Call service, which you can programme at any time at only 15 minutes notice.
- You can use your Reminder Call to call you back at specified times within the following 24 hours.
- Reminder Call is available for only £2 per month. for unlimited use.

See your Cable Handbook for instructions

Please note that some products may only be available in selected Telewest Communications regions, as we are continually updating our service. To maintain high standards, Telewest sales and service calls are randomly recorded. The editorial opinions expressed are not necessarily those of Telewest Communications. The greatest care has been taken to ensure accuracy but neither Telewest Communications nor the publishers can accept responsibility for omission or errors. Please note Speed Dialling is not available in the South West and 3-Way Calling is not available in the Midlands.
* Voice Mail and Call Waiting cannot be used together.
†To use Number Display you must have a display phone.

Telewest Communications

Telewest Communications, together with the Basildon Echo, have set up and spearheaded a Scanner Appeal on behalf of Basildon & Thurrock NHS Hospital Trust to buy a state-of-the-art ultrasound scanner. The new ImagePoint scanner will help to pinpoint potential problems in babies at an early stage. The new system will also be able to detect congenital heart disease in older children, who at present are having to travel to London for tests.

Having given an initial £1000, Telewest promised to match the first £4000 raised toward the £50,000 ultrasound machine for Basildon & Thurrock NHS Hospital Trust's busy neonatal intensive care unit. A cheque was handed over by Ian Fishwick, Telewest Regional Managing Director, for £6656, which included £2500 raised by Telewest staff from sponsored events, including a bungee jump and head shave, raffles and collections. The appeal has now reached a magnificent £32,519.

Ian Fishwick is appealing to all Telewest customers ...

Help the Basildon Scanner Appeal

If you would like to give a donation to help Basildon & Thurrock NHS Hospital Trust purchase this vital piece of equipment, send a cheque payable to 'Paediatrics Trust Fund 02202' to the following address: Scanner Appeal, c/o Telewest Communications, Network Centre, Campus Way, Gillingham Business Park, Gillingham, Kent, ME8 OPZ

Alternatively, you can contact the donation hotline on 01268 593306

PayPoint

If you prefer to pay towards your Cable services bill on a regular basis and pay in cash, then PayPoint is for you

With PayPoint you can make payment toward your cable services bill daily, weekly or monthly, just as much as you want and when you want. Payments must be made before the due date until your balance is paid in full. You simply take your Telewest Cable services bill to your local PayPoint outlet (your nearest outlet is printed on your Telewest bill). Your payment will be processed through an electronic terminal. You will receive a receipt and payment will appear on your next bill (please allow 24 hours for payment to reach your account).

Moving House?

Want to take your Cable Television and/or Cable Telephone service with you?

You can help us to help you and ensure that your move runs as smoothly as possible by following this simple procedure:

1. Check that your new address is in a Telewest cabled area.
2. Provide Telewest with 10 days' notice.
3. Contact Customer Services on 0500 400 150 (or dial 150 using your Telewest Communications telephone service)
4. You will hear a series of options. Please select the 'Move and Transfer' option and you will be put through to our experienced team who can:

- Transfer your Cable Television and/or Cable Telephone service FREE.
- Provide up-to-date advice on new packages and promotions available to you.
- Provide advice on whether you can keep your existing telephone number.

Making Payment Easier

Telewest is committed to making payment of your monthly Cable services bill convenient and easy

If you pay for your Cable services by Direct Debit then your bank or building society will ensure payment is made automatically each month. Because you can pay both your Cable Television and Telephone services by Direct Debit, you'll never have to worry about remembering to settle your bill again. Not only is it more convenient, many Cable packages are £1 per month cheaper if you pay by Direct Debit.

If you would like to take advantage of the benefits of paying your bill by Direct Debit, please contact us on the telephone number below and we will send you a Direct Debit form to complete.

CABLE 17

Tune in now to Channel 17

Cable 17 celebrates a whole year since its new programming line-up was introduced on 6 April 1998. Our viewer research clearly shows that more of you are watching and more of you are watching YOUR local channel. The news programming introduced last year includes three live daily news bulletins (12.30pm, 3.30pm and 6.30pm), Inside 5, which uniquely reflects the flavour of South West London, The Scene, bringing you the best that the club scene has to offer, and Cable 17 Live. The latter is planning big birthday splashes starting on Tuesday 6 with great competition prizes and lots of surprises. So join us then, join us NOW.

Our most watched sports programme, Monday Night Soccer Special (7.30pm), will be bringing you the latest news of all our local leagues as the season approaches its climax. You too can be involved in this programme by calling 0500 888 215 to tell us live on air about your club. Don't miss out!

No other Cable network in the UK brings its local audience as much programming and variety as Cable 17. So find out just what it's all out by tuning in and getting involved. We want you to call us about any issue you want. So call 0181 296 9999 at any time and you could be making the news and shaping the channel.

1. What is Front Row?

Front Row is a movies on demand service that lets you enjoy movies months earlier than on other cable channels. What's more, you can choose what you want to watch, when you want to watch it and you don't even have to leave your armchair. Front Row also screens live events including top boxing contests and live concerts.

2. How do I order a Front Row movie?

See page 5 of Telewest Talks for your Front Row ordering instructions, it's as easy as pressing a few buttons.

3. How much is a Front Row movie?

£2.99 for each order.

PHOTOS: MOVIESTORE COLLECTION

4. How can I find out which movies are showing and when?

You can tune in to the Front Row Guide on Channel 50 or turn to pages 40 and 41 of this editon of Cable Guide.

5. How do I know which movies are suitable for my children to watch?

All Front Row movies carry certificate information as set by the British Board of Film Classification (BBFC) allowing you to make an informed decision.

6. Is my PIN individual to me?

Yes it is, and you will need to use the number each time you order a movie. So remember to keep it somewhere safe.

7. What should I do if I lose my PIN?

If you should happen to lose your PIN, contact customer services.

8. Do I need a different PIN to order Front Row events?

No, you use the same PIN as you do for Front Row movies. Remember you can also use your PIN to order Sky Box Office events.

To make sure you have access to the Front Row service please leave your set top box switched on and in stand-by mode at all times.

A DECADE OF DISCOVERY

From the hidden treasures of the ocean to the mysteries of the natural world, Discovery Channel has always been at the forefront of factual entertainment on television.

Monsters of the deep. Ancient Sharks takes a look at the megaladon, a huge shark that ruled the world's seas millions of years ago

The terrifying forces of nature. Raging Planet: Lightning

The 'unsinkable' ship before tragedy struck. Titanic: Anatomy of a Disaster

To celebrate the channel's tenth birthday on 20 April, Discovery Channel is proud to present some of its most highly acclaimed and award-winning programmes.

For ten consecutive days from April 20 at 10.00pm you'll be able to view a series of ground-breaking programmes.

Witness the chilling spectacle of Titanic: Anatomy of a Disaster, which unveils several new previously undocumented discoveries confirming the cause of the sinking.

Delve into the fascinating revelations about the great Egyptian ruler Ramses the Great in Great Egyptians – Ramses.

Or if the terrors of natural disaster keep you glued to your screen, tune into Raging Planet: Lightning, a documentary that features dramatic footage of this powerful and devasting natural phenomenon. Animal lovers, too, will be spoilt for choice with such moving film studies as Wolves at Our Door, which charts Jim and Jamie Dutcher's six years living with a pack of wolves in a remote area of Idaho's Sawtooth mountains.

Other highlights include Mysteries of Magic, which is an entertaining mini-series that explores the arts and science of the magician's trade from the earliest medieval conjurers to today's hi-tech Las Vegas.

Ancient Sharks, meanwhile, is a spine-chilling look at the megaladon, a gigantic shark the length of a Greyhound bus that dominated the seas some ten to 20 million years ago.

These celebratory series are just a sample of the wealth of Discovery Channel's entertaining and informative programming.

The channel will continue to commission original series and programmes well into the next millenium. So tune into Discovery Channel and explore your world.

Bligh spirit

Rolf Harris goes in search of the truth about one of history's most notorious figures. Words: Jane Oddy

ROLF HARRIS has become known as the Dr Doolittle of the animal kingdom and is more famous in Britain for his rapport with our furry friends than for anything else in his long career.

But that's all about to change and TV viewers are set to see a different side of the genial Aussie as he re-traces some of the great voyages of one of history's most maligned men, Captain William Bligh.

It took a year of Rolf's life to film the four-part series, Bligh of the Bounty – World Navigator, and he looks back on the project as one of the most gruelling and testing of his life.

'I became obsessed with Bligh. It's a wonderful story. I lived, ate and breathed his life for months on end – it was a thrilling thing to do,' admits Rolf on a break from filming Animal Hospital.

'I was swept up and carried along on a crest of a wave. He was an incredible man. He was chosen by Captain Cook to be his sailing master and chart maker when he was just 20 and he hadn't even passed his final naval exams.'

Rolf's older brother and manager, Bruce, was the first to become interested in Bligh, who has emerged as a villain for his part in the mutiny on the Bounty.

He was passing the Mitchell Library in Sydney and saw an exhibition asking 'Captain William Bligh – hero or villain? Make up your own mind.' He went in and was amazed by all the things he didn't know about Bligh.

As Rolf explains, most people think of Bligh as being the detestable character portrayed by Charles Laughton in the famous 1935 movie, a cruel taskmaster who was loathed by his crew and took a sadistic pleasure in flogging his men within an inch of their lives.

'But when Bruce got inside the exhibition, he discovered it was pure Hollywood fabrication. It wasn't true. Bligh was one of the most lenient captains in the British navy. He didn't so much flog as ridicule the seamen in front of their mates and his tongue lashings stayed with them all their shipboard lives.'

It took a year for Bruce, 74, to raise the finance for the project. 'His enthusiasm carried me along on a boundless energy boost,' says Rolf. 'He planned it all and wrote all the scripts and organised all the trips to the different countries. We followed Bligh all over the world.'

The project took another year to film as the crew travelled as far away as Tahiti, Tasmania, Sydney and Vancouver Island to re-trace Bligh's famous voyages, starting at his birthplace at Tinten Manor in Plymouth.

The series also sheds new light on the famous mutiny on the Bounty in the south seas. 'It was nothing to do with brutality, but lack of policing on board,' says Rolf. 'They arrived in Tahiti to collect seedlings but Bligh discovered it would take five months for them to germinate and so he gave the men shore leave during that time.

'They had a rapturous welcome from the native population and all the sailors ended up living with local women. When it came time for them to leave this paradise, they didn't want to go.

'When they were back on board, most of the fresh water went to the seedlings and the men were rationed with a teaspoon in the morning and the evening. They were forced to watch the plants getting their water. It was a fierce situation. That was why they rebelled.'

Charles Laughton portrayed the captain as a loathsome sadist in the 1935 movie Mutiny on the Bounty

Mr Cool

He may try to deny it, but Quentin Tarantino is the hippest, hottest director in Hollywood right now. Ivan Waterman reports on how QT, as his friends know him, has movie stars lining up to be in his films

DO NOT tell Quentin Tarantino that there are film folk in the vicinity who reckon he's washed up. That Reservoir Dogs, Pulp Fiction and Jackie Brown would signal the end of the line for the unpredictable actor, writer and director.

He leans forward, stares in your eyes and says, 'Just who are these people? Do they matter? Look, I am not some rock star who got into it to make a couple of quick hits and then disappear.

'I'm a guy who makes movies you either love or hate. But I never felt any pressure about following up on Pulp Fiction.

'I have tried to build a career based on no fear. Sure, I fear a guy in an alley with a baseball bat or the Mansons crashing into my house. But critics? No way, man.'

Even those who dislike Tarantino admit he has had a profound effect on the industry after bursting onto the scene with Reservoir Dogs in 1992. Since then his movies have spawned a score of imitations.

He is also Hollywood's resurrection man. Just as Pulp Fiction put John Travolta's career back on track, Jackie Brown became a vehicle for a couple of golden oldies.

The movie, which cost a mere $8m, was his tribute to 'blaxploitation' movies of the Seventies. In his adaptation of Elmore Leonard's 1992 novel, Rum Punch, he follows an over-the-hill airline stewardess, played by Pam Grier, who gets caught up in a complex money-laundering scheme.

It's Tarantino in overdrive, full of gritty LA street talk and a soundtrack of Seventies soul classics. And with Grier's Jackie and Samuel L Jackson's sly villain Ordell Robbie, he created a couple of new movie legends.

Grier's career was in reverse mode before she took the call from 'My saviour', while Robert Forster, who plays bondsman Max Cherry, was pretty much Mr Nobody.

Forster, 56, had his last taste of big-time success back in the early Seventies in the cop series Banyon. Grier, 44, relished her own revival: 'To this day I find it difficult to believe he wrote the film with me in mind. I was next to being way out of it. A black woman on the wrong side of 40 in Hollywood? Goodbye!'

Robert De Niro, as small-time crook Louis, and Bridget Fonda, as Ordell's girlfriend Melanie, worked for next to nothing to join the fold.

Born in Tennessee in 1963, Tarantino was named after Burt Reynolds's character Quint in TV's Gunsmoke. He dropped out of school to work in a porno cinema. In the Eighties he worked in a video store, where he began writing.

Most nights he'd work on True Romance (released in 1993) and Reservoir Dogs. Pulp Fiction won him the Palme D'or award at the Cannes Film Festival in 1994 and an Oscar for Best Original Screenplay. But the critics still continue to savage him.

'I don't think they have been fair,' he says. 'But I'm not going away and I am not stopping.'

Success has changed his lifestyle. He owns a £2million mansion in Beverly Hills. Until Spring last year, he was dating actress Mira Sorvino. There had been talk of marriage and she was devastated when he called a halt to it.

But Tarantino does things his way, whatever the outcome. As he puts it, 'I am not trying to be the youngest guy on the block, or Mr Ironic, or Mr Style. And I am definitely never going to be Mr Cool.'

PREMIERE Gattaca, Front Row, from Friday 2nd

For Uma Thurman, the film Gattaca not only furthered her career, it changed her life: she married her co-star, Ethan Hawke, and they had a baby last year. Garth Pearce reports on the life and loves of the Hollywood star

Golden girl

UMA THURMAN appreciates that Gattaca changed her life. This stylish film, set in the future, resulted in a relationship with co-star Ethan Hawke, marriage last summer and the birth of their now eight-month-old daughter Maya Ray. Yet when she heard that Reality Bites star Hawke was being considered for the role in Gattaca, she was disapproving. 'I was concerned that he was too young,' she recalls. 'I didn't know him, but expected a more mature actor for this particular film. How wrong could I be?'

Not only did the two, both 28, work together extremely well on screen, playing a genetically imperfect couple in a future where perfection is paramount, but they fell in love. 'It was,' she says, 'an evolving process. I never expected to marry again during my twenties and did not expect to have a child. Over the course of getting to know him, it was the first time in my life that I had wanted to have children with anyone. He made me feel secure and confident.'

Uma Thurman has lived with controversy from her naked screen debut as an 18-year-old, playing the goddess Venus in the The Adventures of Baron Munchausen. She was next seen being deflowered by John Malkovich in Dangerous Liaisons, with him even writing a letter resting upon her bare bottom.

There was much bisexual romping in the 1990 film Henry and June, and she played a sexually adventurous hitch-hiker in Even Cowgirls Get the Blues. Away from films, she met and married Gary Oldman, 12 years her senior, at the age of 20 and was divorced a year later. 'I believed that I was more adult than I was at the time,' she says. 'He was my first true love and I had no prior experience of what was expected. After that, I was drawn into being the centre of attention over who I went out with. I learned that I only had to share a cup of coffee with someone and I was supposedly sleeping with them. It just wasn't true and it made me cynical. I am not too sure of what my expectations were of recognition.

'It also amazed me that appearing naked could be the cause of such insane media attention. I was shocked to be ripped out of my innocence and suddenly put up as some kind of "hot thing".'

It is clear that being a sex symbol scares her. While men fantasise over Thurman's screen characters, she goes unrecognised in casual clothes and no make-up. She wants to put an ever-widening gulf between fantasy and reality.

'The truth is that I have never been confident about my looks,' she says. 'I am not a stunner. But people sometimes see what they want to see and that makes me uncomfortable.

'I only started acting out of ignorance, bravery and a side order of stupidity. I did a school play and some modelling, because I was tall, and based on that I tried to launch a whole career. It was crazy.

'I did this to give myself confidence. I spent the first 14 years of my life being sure that my looks were hideous. I still catch myself covering my face with my hands. It is so painful being told when you are a kid by other kids that you are ugly. Those memories will always be there.'

Uma's career was given its biggest boost by playing a drug addict in Pulp Fiction. She has since appeared as Poison Ivy, whose lips brought death to those she seduced, in Batman & Robin. Her worst shocker was last year's turkey, The Avengers, in which she played Emma Peel to Ralph Fiennes's hopeless Steed.

'I know to rely on the success or failure in films for your self-belief is not a sensible way to live,' she says. 'To be able to enjoy life with my husband and baby builds up a wall against insecurities. I look at Gattaca as the real turning point for me. The film has a style of its own and it introduced me to Ethan. Before him, all my love was no more than infatuation.'

The Emerald Tiara Ring

Ideal Gift for those celebrating May Birthdays - Emerald the May Birthstone

Reflecting the Ancient glory of the Emerald Isle, and the fire and ice of a proud Celtic tradition, we are proud to present a totally original and remarkable work of art, two of the most valuable jewels in the world have been combined to make the beautiful Emerald Tiara Ring.

Emeralds, from the mountains of South America, were traditionally supposed to ward off evil spirits, cure ailments of the digestion, and protect the chastity of the wearer! Diamonds, of course, are forever - the most beautiful and enduring of gems.

Taking inspiration from the ancient traditions of Celtic arts and crafts, the Emerald Tiara Ring features a symbolic golden knot, outlined in diamonds, with a magnificent emerald at its centre. These most precious of jewels, eleven stones in total, are brilliant green and ablaze with light. To each side of the central gemstone, emeralds are also channel-set to form an espalier, allowing the true depth of colour and richness to be displayed to full advantage.

Ten diamonds are set around the thread of the 'knot', and the rich colour of the solid 9–carat gold setting provides a stunning contrast to the jewels, completing the tiara effect. This dazzling example of jewellery is only available from Stewarts of Knightsbridge, only 89 remaining from a limited edition of just 900, and cannot be purchased from any other retail outlet.

Now it can be yours, or a gift for the one you love, fully hallmarked and accompanied by a Certificate of Authenticity to make a precious heirloom that can be passed through each generation. Attractively displayed in an individual presentation case, the Emerald Tiara ring costs just £325.00, payable in ten easy instalments - but you need send no money now. If you are not absolutely delighted with your Emerald Tiara Ring you can return it to us at any time within 30 days of receipt, for a replacement, a full refund or a credit note. Your statutory rights are not affected.

Stewarts OF KNIGHTSBRIDGE

Teenage temptress: Sherilyn Fenn as Audrey Horne in Twin Peaks. In one scene she had to lay naked and expectant in Agent Cooper's bed. His reaction? He asked her out for fries and a milk shake

Fenn fatale

As the seductive Audrey Horne in David Lynch's cult series Twin Peaks, Sherilyn Fenn won international recognition. So why does she refuse to play the Hollywood fame game? Interview: Sally Beck

PHOTOS: ISABEL SNYDER/OUTLINE/KATZ, SCI-FI CHANNEL

THE epic series Twin Peaks is memorable for so many reasons. Agent Cooper's cherry pie, Audrey Horne's seductive mole, her Rubenesque figure and, well, her twin peaks. Sherilyn Fenn is the actress who smoulders as the delectable Audrey. Who could forget the moment when she sucked a cherry stalk into her mouth, deftly tying a knot in it with her tongue. 'I can't really do that,' she confesses.

Twin Peaks is really where Sherilyn revealed all – literally. It wasn't the first or last occasion, though. Like a lot of glamorous young stars, she was seduced by Playboy magazine. They offered her $250,000 to pose naked and told her she could choose the photographer. They were shocked when they saw the result – not because the photos were too naughty. They were too tasteful.

'They were old Hollywood movie-style shots,' says Sherilyn. 'The magazine didn't want to print them because they said they were too arty and they wanted something more raunchy.'

Sherilyn has built herself a bit of a reputation for taking her clothes off. The last time she stripped was in the film Ruby (1992). Before that was Two Moon Junction (1988). When that film came out, rumour has it, Sherilyn's boyfriend Johnny Depp dumped her after deciding her kissing scenes went beyond acting. She shocked again by stepping into the role that Kim Basinger backed out of in Boxing Helena (1993). In the film she has her limbs amputated and is kept in a box. Now, however, she has a no-nudity clause in her contract.

Last summer she flew to London to film Darkness Falls with British actors Ray Winstone (Nil by Mouth) and Tim Dutton. In it, Sherilyn explores the downside of relationships.

'My character is a woman who seemingly has a lot going for her. She's very wealthy, but she's not happy with her life. Her husband doesn't seem to be there for her at all. She's wanted a baby for years but he doesn't.

'She betrays herself. That's very common in life. It's something I'm fighting not to do as I get older.'

Hollywood is a constant fight for Sherilyn. 'They hate me because I don't play the game,' she explains. 'My agent will say, "There's this $80m movie starring some big name, just go in there and work it." Which means simper and suck up to the producers. But I'm just not like that. I can't do it. I know I could be a really big name if I did, but I'm just not interested.'

In fact, Sherilyn, who divorced musician Toulouse Holliday last year and has a son, Myles, aged five, got so fed up with Los Angeles she looked into moving to England. In the end, she decided to stay put for Myles's sake. 'He likes stability. He likes his food to look the same, taste the same, be the same. He would have missed the dog, his daddy, his cat, his friends,' Sherilyn explains. 'I thought London was amazing though. I would love to have a house in Hampstead or Chiswick.'

We Guarantee You Must Win 2 Prizes in 6 Months or Less!

Imagine the thrill of receiving a letter that reads "Congratulations! You have won £50,000 cash! Or perhaps our favourite one that begins "Are you sitting down? Start packing for the Bahamas..." or opening a special delivery that reads "Please tell us the name of your dealer so that we can deliver your new car...".

These kind of letters ARE sent to people - ordinary people like you who are in no way lucky or special. Sometimes you'll read about them in the papers, these people who seem to keep on winning cars, cash, holidays, even houses!

So how do they do it?

Simple. They just do three things: They locate all the prize draws and competitions and send in lots of entries. They develop specialist skills - because they enter a lot! They pay meticulous attention to detail - because they know how tiny details can trip you up and disqualify your entry.

As several of these regular winners have said, "It's pretty much a full time job!"

But most of us already lead busy and hectic lives. Do you really want to spend your precious time looking for prize draws and competitions, finding entry forms, completing endless coupons, buying countless envelopes and stamps, even buying products you don't really use....and even then with no guarantee of winning anything?

There's got to be an easier and safer way. And this is it:

Complete just one form. The one at the bottom of this page. This is the official entry form for the MustWin Club and by accepting this invitation you can unlock the door to over 10 years of winning 'know-how' - without buying a single product, without filling out a single entry form, without addressing a single envelope, without licking a single stamp and without risking a single penny.

You see, those 'in the know' about prize draws and competitions have been winning for many years. Look at these real life examples:

✎ Mr PR, Leeds won £2,000

"Wow! What a start to the year. If you could have only seen my face when I opened the envelope this morning to find a cheque for £2,000, my wife said it was a treat to see. I am planning to spend the money on a holiday for my family as we have not been away for five years, and the rest will go on home improvements."

✎ Miss H, Lancashire won an all inclusive holiday for two to Mauritius, worth £4,000 plus 10 other prizes. Her many smaller prizes are too long to list, but to name a few: cameras, watches, toys, bike, garden furniture, dishwasher, champagne, chocolates, flowers....

✎ PJ, Middlesex won £10,000

"I couldn't believe it when the phone call came to tell me that I had won £10,000. It was only when I had the cheque in my hand that it finally sank in and just a few days before Christmas as well. It's the best Christmas present I could have dreamed of! This just goes to show that big prizes ARE given away in prize draws. I'm going to spend my £10,000 on a deposit for a new car, a computer for the family and a pony for my daughter."

✎ Pat A., Sussex won £50,000

"...thanks to my £50,000 win... I was able to take a 2 month family holiday in Australia."

✎ Mrs EG from Surrey has won a string of prizes

"Even some of the smaller prizes that arrive in the post are fun to receive because you never know what you have won". Besides some larger wins Mrs EG has enjoyed winning: "Stylish watches; videos; cinema tickets; perfume; wine; games; washing machine; clothes..." the list goes on and on!

✎ Geoff D, Lancashire won a car

"...I've won a car. Though I have won many wonderful prizes along the way, nothing compares to the thrill I felt when the young lady telephoned me and told me... I'd won a VW Polo!"

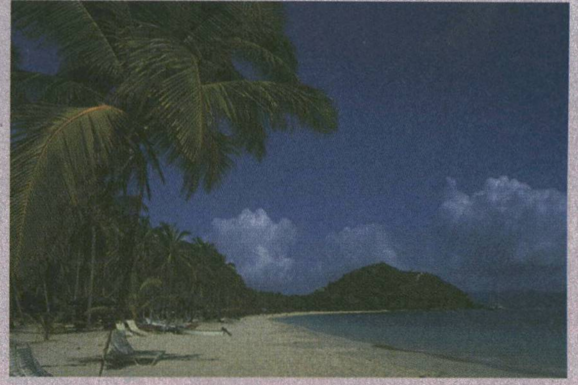
AND THOUSANDS OF OTHERS HAVE WON CASH, CARS, HOLIDAYS AND OTHER FABULOUS PRIZES FROM PRIZE DRAWS AND COMPETITIONS!

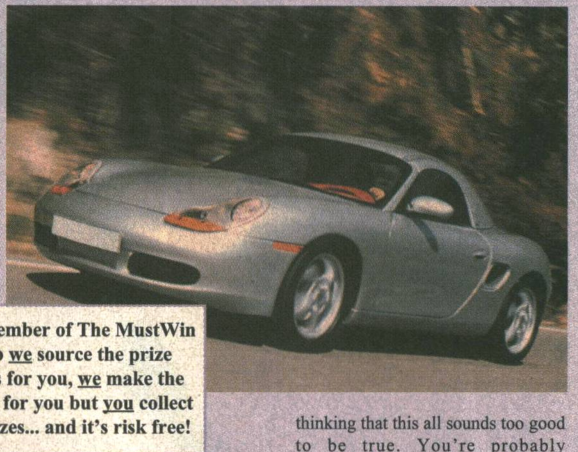
Now it's your turn to join them and become the next real life example - take us at our word and you don't risk a penny.

Right at this moment there are HUNDREDS of big-money prize draws going on with millions up for grabs for people who are 'in-the-know'. Just take a look at these examples which are running right now, as we go to press:

- One promoter will be giving away £60,000 in cash prizes to someone like you.
- 20 x £10,000 kitchens will be given away to people just like you by another company.
- £1,000,000 (yes, £1million) is up for grabs, ready to be presented to someone like you, in one current draw.
- An incredible £700,000 worth of prizes will be given away to other ordinary people in this same prize draw.

...the list goes on. We simply don't have space to list all the competitions and draws that are open at the moment. But we can tell you that the total prize value on offer in Britain alone this year is over £150 MILLION. And remember that these prizes ARE given away. Those who win are REAL PEOPLE and what's more they are no different to you or I.





As a member of The MustWin Club we source the prize draws for you, we make the entries for you but you collect the prizes... and it's risk free!

So this is what we do for you when you join The MustWin Club:

- Using inside sources, our database of results information and our own contacts, we determine which prize draws and competitions offer the best prizes and the greatest chance of winning for our members (research that would take you hundreds of hours even if you could have access to this information).
- Your name and address is automatically entered, before closing dates, into the best prize draws offering at least £959,000.00 in cash and prizes.
- You never have to purchase a single product.
- You never have to decipher the small print that causes many entrants to disqualify themselves because they miss a minor quirk in the rules.
- You don't risk a penny as our moneyback guarantee ensures you don't lose out.
- You never have to pay postage for entries...or for pens...or for envelopes..or for postcards. You don't even have to walk to the postbox -We do all that for you!

AND MOST IMPORTANTLY:

You receive all the prizes.

As all entries are made using your home address, all prizes come straight to your door. Please don't confuse this genuine service with Lottery Syndicates where prizes are delivered to the organiser.

Too good to be true?

Quite naturally, you're probably thinking that this all sounds too good to be true. You're probably wondering what the catch is.

Well, there really isn't one. We're simply taking advantage of the fact that Prize Draws must be free to enter and that the prizes must be given away.

That's why we're willing to show our confidence by offering you the following deal:

Pay us a fee of £9.95 now on a no-risk basis: We guarantee that you'll win two prizes within six months. But if for any reason you don't win, simply let us know and we'll refund your £9.95 immediately. How's that for confidence?

Take us up on our offer without risking a penny. This is a binding guarantee...so what have you got to lose?

Wouldn't you like to win CASH... CARS... A SECOND HOME... HOLIDAYS... CLOTHES... HOUSEHOLD GOODS... without having to use up hours of your valuable time?

You can - and at absolutely no risk to yourself - as a member of The Must Win Club.

Yours,

Membership Secretary

PS - Some really great prize draws are closing in a month's time. Make sure you get your application in quick, preferably within 10 days, in order to benefit.

What would you most like to win?

In order to target our entries for maximum satisfaction, we'd be grateful if you would let us know what exactly you would like to win. Please mark your top 5 prizes in order of preference by writing a 1,2 and 3,4 and 5 in the boxes below and then complete and post the coupon:

Julia
a woman of style

Julia Carling has had her fair share of ups and downs, but these days she seems to enjoy a charmed existence.

Words: Jane Oddy
Photograph: Mark Harrison

THESE days it seems that Julia Carling is never off cable TV. Not only that, Julia is blissfully happy on the home front and has moved in with boyfriend, Sony record company boss Rob Stringer.

She turned to Rob after her life fell apart three-and-a-half years ago when she left her then husband, former England rugby captain Will Carling.

Julia has known Rob since her days as a music industry PR girl. Over the months, their friendship developed into a relationship. After three years, they decided to share a home together and last year Julia, now divorced, moved into Rob's pad with her black labrador, Biff.

The benefits of a good relationship show in 34-year-old Julia's happy, relaxed manner when she arrives for the Cable Guide shoot with Biff in tow. She looks tanned and blonde from a recent holiday in Mexico and Los Angeles where Rob had to work for a couple of days with his acts, which include the Manic Street Preachers and B*Witched.

Her love life has always been the subject of headlines. She lived with guitarist Jeff Beck when she was only 18 and he was 21 years older, and there was a close friendship with Eric Clapton.

Marriage is not on the immediate agenda with Rob but she seems utterly content. The bad old days when the world's press were camped on her doorstep seem like a dream and she shrugs it off. 'I think it made me stronger but not harder. I'm not a hard person.'

She also acknowledges that the publicity hasn't exactly harmed her TV career. Until her 15-month marriage broke up, she didn't take her work that seriously but she does now.

Yet she was never tempted to cash in on her instant fame. Instead, she preferred to take it slowly and the strategy has paid off. Her career is on a steady curve. 'Before it was a bit of a novelty but these days I want to be really good at what I do and if it takes years, then fine. I'm learning all the time,' she says.

As well as co-hosting VH1's Something for the Weekend, she fronts a weekly magazine show on Granada Breeze and has a new show, Julia Carling's Style Guide, going out on Granada Breeze this month.

Julia is in an ideal position to talk about health, fashion and beauty issues. She is a vegetarian, has modelled and ran in last year's London Marathon for the breast cancer charity Breakthrough. 'It was an amazing experience. I didn't train in a gym, I just went on faster walks with Biff.'

Aware that a career in television can be fickle, she is also developing other projects. With her elder brother Adrian, she is launching a range of designer dog accessories called Doggy Styles which will be imported from the States.

'We've been to Crufts, all the big dog stores and there's nothing like this,' she enthuses. 'We found this company in New England that sells amazing dog collars and leads and they've given us the franchise. Biff's such an old tart, he's going to be the model!'

Impress your friends with this completely new 11-piece range of professional stainless steel cookware, as used by BBC's Food & Drink and The Carlton Food Network

Whatsmore order within 14 days and we'll also include a milkpan worth £29.95 completely FREE!

Generously sized, the range has self basting lids which keep the juices inside the pan and prevent the flavour from escaping. The rims are designed to make pouring easy and accurate. And, they also benefit from being oven proof, allowing you to start cooking on the hob and move directly to the oven or grill without having to worry about changing pans.

The handles are constructed out of thick tubular stainless steel. They are extremely strong being firmly secured by large sturdy stainless steel rivets for absolute safety and strength. And, very importantly - they're also extremely comfortable, and extra long enabling you to use both hands when dealing with heavy loads. Being long they also enable you to keep your hands away from the heat.

The base of each pan has an encapsulated sandwich base. This gives exceptionally even heat distribution ensuring food cooks and simmers evenly, preventing sticking or burning in hot spots. It also makes the cookware more energy efficient and economical, allowing you to cook using lower temperatures. Furthermore they are suitable for gas, electric, ceramic and solid fuel.

Every item is completely dishwasher safe. And, as it is constructed from the finest quality German specification 18/10 stainless steel you may use any type of utensil without fear of damage.

This exclusive 11-piece set sells individually for £494.45 in our catalogue and stores, but by buying direct from this special offer you save almost £300. The complete set includes:- 16cm, 18cm and 20cm saucepans with lids, 14cm saucepot, 20cm omelette pan, 20cm casserole pot with lid, 22cm two-handled colander, 24cm frying pan, 24cm stockpot with 24cm steamer insert and 28cm saute pan with lid and helper handle.

Your satisfaction is guaranteed buying from The Professional Cookware Co., one of the largest suppliers of cookware in Europe, but if you wish to return your cookware then simply do it within 30 days for a full refund.

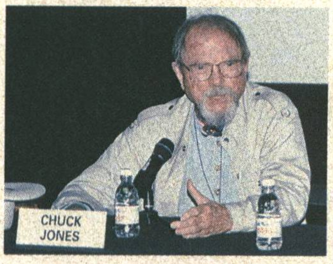
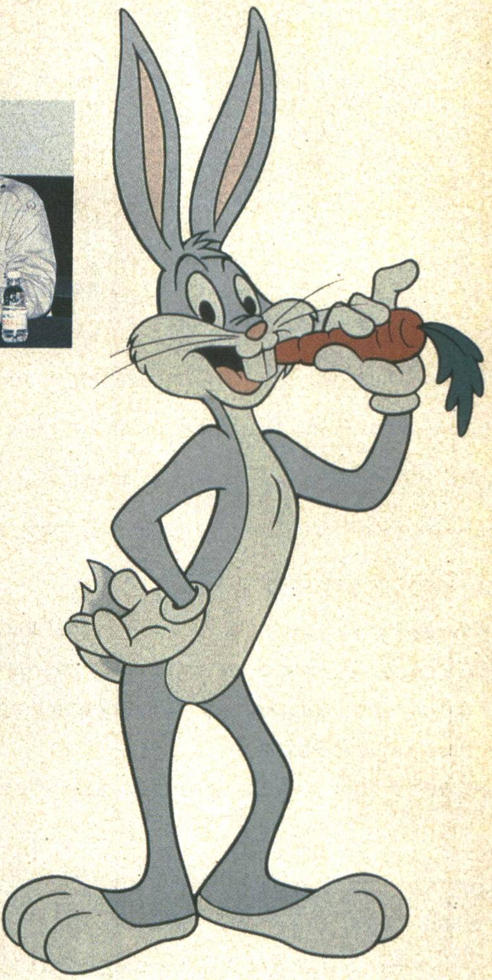
The Toon Town Master



Anyone who has seen Cartoon Network's Bugs Bunny cartoon must have wondered why the carrot-munching bunny always begged the question: 'What's up, doc?' Master animator Chuck Jones, still a youngster at 86 and the genius who co-created the wise-cracking Bugs, reveals that it was his late buddy, toon director Tex Avery, who dreamed up the catchphrase. Jones explains: 'He was originally from Texas, where instead of saying "sir" or "governor" they say stuff like "How did your day go, doc?." But the "doc" thing only works if the situation is absurd. If you see a man firing a shot gun at you, you'd run like hell. You wouldn't reach up, tap him on the shoulder, take a bite out of a carrot and say, "What's up, doc?" With films such as A Bug's Life in mind, Chuck, who also created Daffy Duck, Wile E Coyote and the ever-escaping Road Runner, believes that kids appreciate the art of true animation: 'Nothing beats the human touch.' he says.

INTERVIEW: IVAN WATERMAN



Lucie and Jason talk to the nation!

You have to be a friendly bunch on the Trouble at Breakfast team. Presenters Lucie Cave and Jason Bradbury hop between the sofa and the customised desk while the crew direct the action from the periphery of the studio. Giant Ts adorn the walls and celebrity pants hang gloriously from the ceiling – all of it taking place in a space the size of a garden shed!

With two hours of madness to start your day (three hours during the Easter break), you have to expect the unexpected. 'Trouble at Breakfast is about creative friction and encouraging chaos,' Jason told Cable Guide. Lucie delivers weather reports from the roof, the mugshot game sees lucky viewers winning some fabulous prizes, and Jason could end up wearing your school tie! (His own was a delightful grey and gold combination). Guests have included top bands N-Sync and 98 Degrees – with more big names to come.

SCI-FI ZONE YOUR GUIDE TO OUT-OF-THIS-WORLD SHOWS ON CABLE. WORDS: PATRICK HOLM

BON VOYAGE!

THEY may have been travelling across the Delta Quadrant for five years, but the crew of the Starship Voyager seem nowhere nearer home than they were when their ship was thrown out of the Alpha Quadrant into an area of space where the only familiar faces are those of the dreaded Borg.

As the fourth Star Trek series begins its fifth year on Sky One, Voyager has been crossing a totally blank area of space, as black as night. Everyone on board has their own way of dealing with their situation, which for some means making a faithful recreation on the holodeck of the old black-and-white serials from the 1930s that saw Flash Gordon battle the hordes of the Emperor Ming.

Other plans are underway too: a new small ship, christened the Delta Flyer, acts as a scout ship for the Voyager, created from the fertile imaginations of the crew, assisted by Seven of Nine (Jeri Ryan), the former Borg who joined the good guys at the start of the previous season.

Others have plans for Voyager though. Seven of Nine may have left the Borg Collective, but they haven't forgotten her, and in a major two-part episode, Dark Frontier, she has to make a choice between her old and new homes.

Behind the scenes, there have been changes as well. The co-creator of the series, Jeri Taylor, retired at the close of the fourth year, and Brannon Braga, who was jointly responsible for the script of the highly popular Star Trek film First Contact, was promoted to Executive Producer. The stories this year focus more on action, and mind bogglingly complicated time travel dilemmas (which luckily the crew seem to understand), rather than the soap opera elements that were beginning to be seen in the show, with little attention this year on the romance between handsome helmsman Tom Paris and the fiery half-Klingon engineer, B'Elanna Torres (above).

With Voyager becoming probably the only Star Trek series still in production next year, this season sees the junior show go from strength to strength.

Sky One, from Monday 26th, 8.00pm.

Sad to say, the sequel series to Babylon 5 seems likely only to last 13 episodes, after cable channel TNT decided not to finance a full season. Mention the name Gerry Anderson and most people will think of his puppet successes like Thunderbirds or Captain Scarlet. However, he has been behind a number of live-action series as well, including this Anglo-American co-production, which originally saw life as a pilot called Space Police, starring Shane Rimmer (the voice of Scott Tracy in Thunderbirds) as a police officer on a planet where he was the only human.

When the series made it on air in 1994, Ted Shackleford (right), alias Dallas's Gary Ewing, starred as Lt Patrick Brogan in a show that resembled Hill Street Blues in space as Brogan and his family dealt with life in Demeter City, a far cry from the New York he used to patrol. Computer-generated animation as well as more traditional special effects combined to create an effective atmosphere, helped immensely in numerous episodes by the presence behind the camera of John Glen, director of the Bond movies Moonraker and The Spy Who Loved Me.

Style file

A NEW glossy 13-part series, A la Mode, makes its exclusive debut on UK Style this month with everything you ever wanted to know about fashion. The show, presented by fashion journalist Annemette Klinkby-Silver, is an interesting mix of celebrity interviews, makeovers, shopping advice and top tips from Lenny Beige. Plus there's talk from the cream of fashion designers. Tune in to episode two to find out how Nicole Farhi has diversified her fashion collection to include a Home range with everything from furniture, cups and saucers, and bed linen. The collection, an eclectic fusion of old and new, is available from her shop in London's Clifford Street, W1 (0171-494 9051), and every item in it is hand picked by the faultlessly stylish Farhi herself. And how does this relate to fashion? Well, you'll find that the fabric she uses on the catwalk is in her home collection, so you can mix and match your wardrobe with your tablecloth! Tune in to episode three to see the spookily Margaret Thatcher-esque Vivienne Westwood speak of her 'problem hair' and her weird and wonderful creations, plus proffer this invaluable fashion advice: 'If in doubt, overdress.' Cheers, Viv!

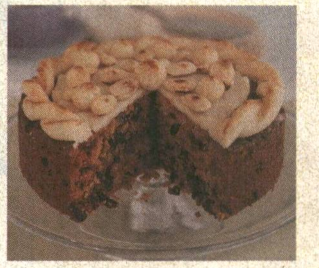
Food for thought

THIS month, Sarah Greene joins Food Network Daily, Carlton Food Network's flagship show, which brings viewers the latest news and views from the culinary world. Sarah is married to TV presenter Mike Smith and they both share an interest in food. 'Mike is a very good cook; he's quite adventurous,' she says. On the subject of food, Sarah adds: 'I think the important thing is to listen to what your body tells you – unless it always demands chocolate eclairs!' Sarah (left) will be joining other CFN presenters including Lesley Waters (right) for a special Electrolux Easter Baking Weekend (Friday 2nd-Monday 5th) to make a range of festive treats. 'Usually Easter is a big family get-together time,' says Sarah. 'We major on hot cross buns, not that you need an excuse. My mother does a brilliant simnel cake. Normally Sunday lunch would be very traditional with either a lamb or chicken dish.' Here's a seasonal favourite for you to try …

Simnel Cake

Preparation time: 25 minutes
Cooking Time: 2-2¼ hours
Serves: 8



225g (8oz) plain flour
175g (6oz) Caster sugar
1 tsp cinnamon
pinch of salt
¼ tsp mixed spice
3 medium eggs
icing sugar
175g (6oz) butter
500g (1lb) pack luxury mixed fruit
500g (1lb) pack almond marzipan
50g (1lb) pack chopped almonds
50g (1lb) pack whole blanched almonds

Method

1 Preheat oven to 150C/300F/Gas Mark 2.

2 Sift flour into a bowl and add cinnamon, salt and mixed spice.

3 Cream the butter and sugar, gradually add the eggs and 1 tbspn of the flour mix. Then gradually fold in the remaining flour until smooth.

4 Fold in the fruit and chopped almonds.

5 Lightly dust one packet of marzipan with icing sugar and roll out to a 18cm (7inch) circle.

6 Place half of the cake mixture into the tin. Place the round of marzipan on top and cover with the remaining mixture.

7 Bake in the centre of the oven for 2-2¼ hours. Cool in the tin for 1 hour, then turn out and leave to cool on a wire rack.

8 Make a paste with 10g (½ oz) icing sugar and 1tsp water. Brush the paste lightly over the cake.

9 Roll a 16cm (6in) circle from ⅓ of the pack of marzipan. Place on top of the cake and crimp the edges. With the remaining marzipan make 11 balls and a rope. Place on the cake as seen in the picture. Arrange whole almonds on top of the marzipan and place under a medium hot grill for 1-2 minutes until the marzipan has browned.

Ground rules

AS AN Easter Monday treat, UK Style presents Ground Force Day, an evening of back-to-back episodes of the series in which Alan Titchmarsh, Charlie Dimmock and others have 48 hours to transform a garden into something spectacular. Here are Charlie's top April tips for the garden:

1 With herbaceous plants that need stacking, position supports well before they are required. The plants will grow into the supports and look more natural when they flower.

2 Stick wheels on the base of heavy containers to move them easily.

3 When making up hanging baskets, mix in a water reaction gel with compost. This reduces the frequency of watering: the compost wets more readily and will lead to healthier plants.

4 Clematis plants look more attractive if you grow them up through other plants like Birch, Rambling Rose or Flowering Cherry. It also has the bonus of giving instant support.

5 Sow Sweet Peas at the end of March. Pinch out the top of them after the first two leaves. This will make them produce more blooms.

CRUSH THE CRUSHER!

I AM afraid that I have to agree with Mr Corner's comments in the March issue of Cable Guide. Beat the Crusher is a truly awful programme, which, in my opinion, should be promptly cut from the Sky One schedule. Not only is Freddie Starr the worst personality to ever grace Sky One screens, but the entire programme revolves around the idea that people should laugh at the misfortunes of others. This is a terrible attitude for people to have and for Sky One to support! I'll not say that it has put me off Sky One but I'm sure it has for some people. Please axe this programme as soon as possible – it's just plain terrible.

FRASIER'S THE FINEST

I AM just writing to thank you for showing my favourite programme, Frasier, on the Paramount Comedy channel. I am 14 years old and my friends and I think it is the best comedy shown on television! The characters are fantastic and it also features the most talented and sexy actor – David Hyde Pierce. I look forward to this programme every week. Keep on showing all the fantastic and hilarious episodes. I can't wait for a new series.

THIRTY SECONDS?

IT WAS worth subscribing to cable in order to savour the delights of thirtysomething. Thank you, Granada Plus, for screening this wonderful programme. In my opinion, it has fully passed the test of time and seems just as relevant and topical in its content today as it was when originally screened back in the Eighties.

TODAY I discovered thirtysomething on Granada Plus but, unfortunately, this was the last episode! Will any more episodes be shown in the near future?

TWO MUCH!

I GET Cable Guide every month because I am a cable subscriber. I enjoy the magazine very much, it is always jam-packed with interesting items. What

TOPIC OF THE MONTH: 'STARGATE SGI'

The subject that provoked the most letters this month was the disappearance of 'Stargate SG1' from Sky One. Here's a selection ...

WHO decided to take Stargate SG1 off of Sky One? No mention was made about when the conclusion is to be screened. I just hope whoever is responsible gets sent through the stargate without the return address.

P Reynolds

● Congratulations, you've won our £5 prize for best letter.

MY wife and I are both keen fans of Stargate SG1. We watch it without fail and can't wait to see how the characters get out of their latest predicaments. The last episode finished with a To Be Continued message. But the adverts that followed showed highlights for the new series of Mortal Kombat to be shown in the following week's Stargate slot. When is the last episode of Stargate going to be continued, and why weren't the viewers told that this was the last episode in the current series? This is not the first time that Sky has done this. They ended the last series half-way through a two-parter. This is so frustrating.

Fans of Sky One's cult favourite 'Stargate SG1' are angered that the series was dropped

I WONDER if someone could let me know what has happened to Stargate SG1. This has been a regular weekly programme but it was recently scrapped half-way through a story. Now it has been replaced by Mortal Kombat. Has the series been stopped?

Joanna Brons
e-mail

I'VE heard that Stargate SG1 commanded one of the highest viewing figures for Sky One. If this is the case, why has it disappeared without a word of warning?

Trudi Wood
Warrington

THANKS a bunch, Sky One! Stargate, which I really enjoy, finished last week with a To Be Continued message. I sat down to watch the next episode but was met with another series, which wasn't to my taste. When is the conclusion to be shown? Come on, Sky, surely you can tell us when it is returning.

FRIENDS INDEED!

Don't you love Friends!
When the opening episode of the new series went out on Sky One in January it set a new audience record for the channel. The previous highest Sky One audience had also been for Friends, namely the famous London episode at the climax of the last series. Critics may argue that the sitcom is not up to the standards set in earlier seasons but such claims seem irrelevant. Viewers are still following Monica, Rachel, Phoebe, Ross, Chandler and Joey in their millions. This month could see Friends set yet another record for Sky One. Two long-anticipated stories break on the channel's top-rating imports ER and Friends on Thursday 15 April. George Clooney is finally leaving ER, and in Friends, Chandler is set to propose to Monica. Both story lines will be major events in these much talked-about shows. It should be some night for Sky One.

L!VE IS KICKING

THE NAKED CITY

I AM an avid cable viewer but I recently began to get bored with the constant repeats and soaps. So I was delighted when Sky One started to broadcast Naked in Westminster. It was so different to anything else being shown on television and it completely changed my views on showgirls and table dancing clubs. It made me realise that showgirls are not porn actresses or sleazy, as the programme demonstrated exactly how stressful their job is. Well done, Sky – it would be great if we could have an update series later in the year.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

WHAT has happened since Sky's movie channels changed their names and put all the best films on Sky Box Office? I'd like to suggest some more name changes: Sky Premier would become Sky Repeats, Sky MovieMax would be known as Sky Remember When You Last Saw This? and Sky Cinema would be Sky Ancient. The channels could also have regular quizzes along the lines of Guess How Many Times This Film's Been Repeated and How Old Were You When This One Came Out? I feel subscribers to Sky's movie channels are no longer getting value for money.

STOP THESE BARBARIC PROGRAMMES

WHEN will cable TV channels realise that fishing and horse and greyhound racing are every bit as bad as blood sports? They must not be seen as entertainment. I am constantly sickened by anglers gloating over the fish they've caught – hapless victims subjected to intense suffering. Animal cruelty isn't limited to the suffering inflicted on circus creatures. Horses endure whippings and drug abuse and greyhounds suffer in their thousands each year. Please stop giving coverage to these obnoxious pursuits.

FRONT ROW ALL THE LATEST BLOCKBUSTER

Action-thriller enthusiasts are well catered for on Front Row this month: US Marshals is the fast-paced follow-up to The Fugitive, Morgan Freeman headlines the nail-biting serial killer suspense movie Kiss the Girls and Patrick Stewart stars in hostage drama Mastermind. April's line-up boasts some top directorial talent, too: Clint Eastwood helms Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil, the ever-hip Quentin Tarantino is behind the lens on Jackie Brown, while Francis Ford Coppola directs Matt Damon in the courtroom drama John Grisham's The Rainmaker. Romance and relationships are the themes of Chasing Amy, Amy Foster and Dream for an Insomniac, while light comedy is the order of the day in Good Burger. Finally, Gattaca is a brilliantly designed slice of future shock science-fiction.

JACKIE BROWN

Pam Grier, Robert De Niro

Duration: 148 mins Premiere: Monday 5th.

The most recent offering from Quentin Tarantino boasts an intricately woven plot and plenty of fascinating, carefully drawn characters. Based on crime author Elmore Leonard's acclaimed Rum Punch, it sees airline hostess Jackie Brown (Pam Grier) caught between the crooks and the cops and finding an unlikely ally in a bail bondsman.

GATTACA

Ethan Hawke, Uma Thurman

Duration: 102 mins Premiere: Friday 2nd.

Set in a strange and spartan future, Gattaca is the chilling and uncomfortably plausible story of a boy who's judged to be a misfit or 'in-valid'. Unusually, he was the product of a natural, rather than a test-tube birth, and his genetic profile also shows weaknesses that are judged unacceptable. A thought-provoking sci-fi drama.

GOOD BURGER

Kenan Thompson, Kel Mitchell

Duration: 93 mins Premiere: Monday 5th.

Teen TV favourites Kenan and Kel star as two high school kids on vacation in LA who take summer jobs at a small, friendly fast food outlet called Good Burger. When a branch of Mondo Burger opens across the street, it looks like Good Burger might get squeezed out of business. This light comedy will be a sure-fire hit with youngsters.

KISS THE GIRLS

Morgan Freeman, Ashley Judd

Duration: 115 mins Premiere: Monday 5th.

Morgan Freeman stars as criminal psychologist Alex Cross in this nail-biting thriller. He learns that his niece has gone missing and sets off to investigate, only to discover that she is not the first to disappear: seven other girls have recently gone missing and two bodies have been found. Cue lashings of suspense, drama and action.

US MARSHALS

Tommy Lee Jones, Wesley Snipes

Duration: 126 mins Premiere: Monday 26th.

If you thought The Fugitive was thrilling then you'll love this sequel in which Tommy Lee Jones reprises his role of US Marshal Sam Gerard. This time he's on the trail of a ruthless and mysterious assassin (Wesley Snipes). Full of exciting action and great stunts, this is a worthy successor to a great movie. So don't miss it.

CHASING AMY

Ben Affleck, Joey Lauren Adams

Duration: 109 mins Premiere: Monday 19th.

Outrageously sexy and frankly hilarious, this movie shows heart-throb Ben Affleck in a very different light. The star of Armageddon and Good Will Hunting sheds his clean-cut image in this raunchy movie. Holden (Affleck) meets the woman of his dreams but she's dreaming of someone else – and it's not a man. An absolute hoot!

JOHN GRISHAM'S THE RAINMAKER

Matt Damon, Claire Danes

Duration: 130 mins Premiere: Friday 23rd.

Like so many adaptations of John Grisham's bestsellers, this film tells the story of a young, aspiring lawyer (Matt Damon). He starts off doing menial legal work and eventually takes on a case against a powerful insurance company – a job that will make or break him. This drama is powerful viewing.

AMY FOSTER

Vincent Perez, Rachel Weisz

Duration: 109 mins Premiere: Monday 12th.

This moving romantic drama is based on the Joseph Conrad novel of the same name. It tells of a quiet English girl called Amy, whose calm exterior hides a passionate nature, and a mysterious Ukranian stranger who is washed up on the beach. They fall in love and fight against the hostility of her family, determined to be together whatever the opposition. Stirring stuff, a must for hopeless romantics.

DREAM FOR AN INSOMNIAC

Ione Skye, Jennifer Aniston

Duration: 84 mins Premiere: Friday 23rd.

Friends superstar Jennifer Aniston stars alongside Ione Skye in this hip romantic comedy. Jennifer plays the friend of Frankie, an aspiring actress and insomniac who doesn't think she'll sleep properly until she finds her dream man. The problem is, when she meets Mr Right, she has trouble convincing him that she's the one for him. A film that will warm the cockles of your heart.

MIDNIGHT IN THE GARDEN OF GOOD AND EVIL

Kevin Spacey, John Cusack

Duration: 149 mins Premiere: Monday 19th.

Clint Eastwood produced and directed this epic tale of mystery. When a journalist travels to the Deep South to write what he hopes will be a colourful feature about a lavish Christmas party, he has no idea that the events that follow will change his life. An unusual and atmospheric story dealing with murder, mystery and voodoo.

MASTERMINDS

Patrick Stewart, Vincent Kartheiser

Duration: 101 mins Premiere: Friday 16th.

Star Trek: The Next Generation's Patrick Stewart plays a criminal mastermind intent on making his fortune in this ingenious thriller. Stewart plays a supercrook who takes over a prestigious private school and holds the students hostage for millions of dollars. But he reckoned without a teenage hacker whose talent for creating mayhem could be the only hope for the youngsters' rescue.

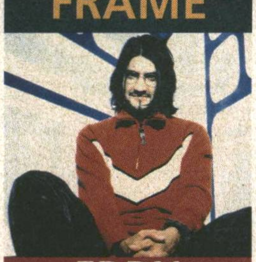
FILM PLANNER

IN THE FRAME



EDDY TEMPLE-MORRIS

What's your favourite movie and why?
Pulp Fiction. It has everything – action, laughs, a great script. And The Gimp!

Who is your favourite movie actor?
Robert De Niro – the guv'nor. While mere mortals use prosthetics, he actually turned himself into a fat bloke for Raging Bull.

Who is your favourite actress?
It's a toss up between Kathy Bates and Anne Bancroft.

What's your favourite comedy and why?
The rockumentary This Is Spinal Tap. It's pant-wettingly funny and there are still some people who think it's for real.

What's your favourite horror film?
Steven Spielberg's Jaws. It affected me deeply. To this day I think of it every time I go swimming. Thanks, Steven, thanks a lot.

What's your favourite sci-fi film?
Blade Runner. Nothing has measured up to it.

What's your first movie memory?
The Wild Bunch and its many slow-mo action scenes, panicking horses and buckets of blood.

What's your favourite movie quote?
'You're only supposed to blow the bloody doors off!' Michael Caine in The Italian Job.

MILLENNIUM MOVIES

As part of Britain's biggest ever celebration of cinema, Sky Premier and Cable Guide are giving you the chance to vote for your three favourite films. Sky Premier is also offering voters the chance to win one of 25,000 fantastic prizes.

OVER 25,000 PRIZES!

- One family trip to Hollywood
- Two parties at Planet Hollywood with a private film viewing for you and 34 of your friends
- Five Sony widescreen TVs
- 10,000 classic videos
- 10,000 movie trivia games
- 4000 Millennium Movie baseball caps
- 1000 Millennium Movie sweatshirts

HOW TO VOTE

Choose your favourite three films. All eligible votes will be entered automatically into the prize draw and could also win one of our 25,000 prizes. The first 5000 valid entries will receive a Millennium Movies trivia game. You can vote by using one of the following methods.

BY PHONE 0640 678877

Be ready with your name, address and favourite movie choices. Calls cost no more than 60p per minute (proceeds go to RADA) and should last no longer than $2^1/_2$ minutes. If you are under 18 years old, ask the bill payer for their permission before you call. Only one person can vote on each call.

BY INTERNET

Visit Sky's website http://www.sky.co.uk/vote/ and vote. Only one person can vote per visit.

BY POST

Complete and cut out the form below and send it in a stamped addressed envelope to Millennium Movies Vote, PO Box 1803, London NW1 8NQ

VOTING CLOSES 31 MAY 1999

Terms and Conditions: Vote for your three favourite movies of the last millennium. All votes (other than those set out below) will automatically be entered into our free prize draw. Any Cable Guide or Sky employees, their agents and families are not permitted to enter the free prize draw. To participate if below 18 years, gain permission from a parent or guardian. One entry per person, up to a maximum of five entries per household allowed. Full details of prizes can be obtained by sending a stamped addressed envelope marked 'Prize Details' to the voting address. Each postal entry must be sent with sufficient postage. Entries must be received by 31 May 1999. Winners will be drawn by 30 June 1999 and winners will be informed by 31 July 1999. A list of winners' names can be obtained by sending a stamped addressed envelope marked 'Winners List' to the voting address. The first 5000 valid entries will receive a Movie Trivia Game. A further 20,000 prize winners will be drawn from all entries received by 31 May 1999. Prizes will be awarded to entrants drawn in the following order: a ten-day Hollywood holiday for four people, including flights, hotels, transfers and a total of £1000 spending money; two Planet Hollywood film preview parties for you and 34 guests, including coach hire from one location, film preview party and food; five Sony widescreen televisions; 1000 Millennium Movies sweatshirts; 4000 Millennium Movies baseball caps; and 10,000 classic videos from a selection of 30 titles. The promoters' decision is final. No correspondence will be entered into. Entries will not be returned. Promoter: BSkyB, Grant Way, Isleworth, Middlesex, TW7 5QD

Walt Disney Winnie the Pooh Postage Stamps Incite Collector Stamp-ede!

Winnipeg, Canada — Disney fans and collectors are suddenly scrambling to obtain a new Limited Edition 4 Stamp set that was issued by Canada to commemorate the evolution of Winnie the Pooh from a real bear born in Winnipeg, Canada, to a cartoon icon that is beloved worldwide.

"Collector demand for these stamps has been unbelievable," stated John Van Emden of ICS, worldwide distributor. "Disney's fairy tales have touched the hearts of all of us, and collectors know this is their opportunity to get actual government issued legal tender stamps that are sold out at the Post Office. In fact, we're nearly sold out."

Each of the stamps is about three times the size of a regular postage stamp. They're legal for postage in Canada and are recognised by every postal authority worldwide.

If you want to order the collection, you must act quickly. The stamps are available for a short time at £9.95 (plus £1.95 p&p) for the complete Limited Edition set of colourful stamps, accompanied by an individually numbered ICS Certificate of Authenticity. The most you can buy is 6 sets. Make your cheque or postal order payable to ICS, PO Box 246, Dept. CGP1, Southampton, Hants SO14 0ZL. Credit card holders may call 01703-337 322.

MY MOST MEMORABLE GAME

ALAN BRAZIL Sky Sports Nationwide Football League Commentator

CHARLTON ATHLETIC V SUNDERLAND, NATIONWIDE LEAGUE DIVISION ONE PLAYOFF FINAL, WEMBLEY, MAY 1998

'This game had everything. I remember wondering whether I would run out of ways to describe the action because it was so incredible. It finished 4-4 after extra time and then Charlton won on penalties after Sunderland had started as most people's favourites, even though they'd gone off the boil slightly. Yet before the game, there was no thought that it could be so memorable because the incredible pressures in the play-offs don't usually allow it. I know the two managers, Peter Reid of Sunderland and Alan Curbishley of Charlton, quite well and admire them for making the game so open and exciting. The game started off pretty open, then after about ten minutes I sensed it was going to be a cracker. The fans really got into it and the atmosphere was special. These fans don't often get to see their sides at Wembley. Charlton's Clive Mendonca was my man of the match because his finishing on the day was fantastic, particularly his touch for his second goal. It's days like this when I know that, other than playing, commentating is the best job in sports.'

'I will prove that I am every bit as good as a male boxer'

JANE PULLS NO PUNCHES

Chris Hatherall talks to controversial female boxer Jane Couch

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING
FRONT ROW THURSDAY 1st APRIL 8.15PM – LIVE

JANE COUCH is a tough cookie. She was twice expelled from school in Fleetwood, Lancashire, as a youngster, picked street fights well into her 20s and is now the most feared female boxer in the world.

So when she steps out to defend her world title against Germany's Heike Noller live on Front Row this month, don't expect her to hold back.

And if you are tempted to think that women's boxing is nowhere near as brutal as the men's version, you could well be in for a shock.

'I like to get stuck in. I don't like to muck about,' says Couch, 30, who is known as 'The Fleetwood Assassin' for good reason. 'Whatever happens, this fight won't be boring. I have an all-action style, like Nigel Benn, and I'm not going to hang around. I will prove that I am every bit as good as a male boxer.

'OK, perhaps I don't have the same kind of power. But I've worked hard and I'm fitter than most male boxers.'

Couch, who faces Noller at the Aston Villa Sports and Leisure Centre in Birmingham, says learning to box has kept her out of trouble, something she never managed as a youngster. But she retains a streetwise toughness, describing an early amateur victory against a boxing policewoman as one of her finest moments.

'It was brilliant to flatten one and get paid for it,' she says, without even a hint of irony.

However, Couch's temperament and self-belief has been tested to the limits both in and out of the ring in the last four years. And during that time she has not only won her battle to become a world champion, but also taken on Britain's entire boxing administration and won by a technical knockout.

When she first started boxing it was illegal to promote a women's boxing match in Britain and impossible for a woman to gain a licence to take part in the sport. But not now. Couch made a massive breakthrough by fighting German Simona Lukic in London in November 1998. It was hardly a spectacular fight, Couch winning far too easily after just one minute of the second round. But it was the first women's professional contest under the jurisdiction of the British Boxing Board of Control since the Board's formation in 1929.

It didn't please everyone, of course. Promoter Frank Maloney, who trains Lennox Lewis, went on record to say that 'the only reason for women to be in the ring is as ring card girls', and that kind of prejudice is still rife. But Couch, who has defended her world title four times, says boxing fans should judge for themselves.

'In England we are five years behind everyone else. In France, Germany, Mexico and America women's boxing is massive,' she says, and her Bristol trainer, Tex Woodward, agrees. 'Jane trains harder than the average pro,' he insists. 'Women should be able to box if they want to.

'Half the male fighters in her weight category in the country couldn't beat Jane and she has improved at least 200 per cent in the last year. She trains two or three times a day, lives with myself and my wife on a farm so she can train full-time and is totally committed to the sport. She deserves everything she gets.'

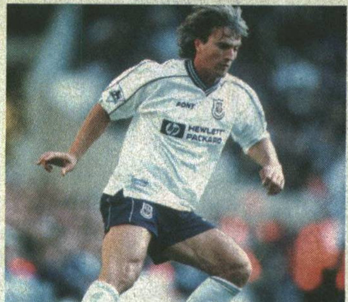
NEWCASTLE UNITED V TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR SKY SPORTS 1 MONDAY 5th APRIL 7.00PM – LIVE

GERRY COX TALKS TO SPURS HEROES DAVID GINOLA AND LES FERDINAND ABOUT THEIR CLASH AGAINST THEIR OLD TEAM NEWCASTLE UNITED.

ALL EYES will be on David Ginola and Les Ferdinand when they return to Newcastle with Spurs in what promises to be a Premiership thriller. The two Spurs stars were heroes on Tyneside when they were signed as part of the Kevin Keegan revolution at Newcastle, and Geordie fans were devastated when they were sold to Spurs two years ago.

But now they are key players in the Tottenham revival under George Graham, with Ginola a strong favourite for this season's Footballer of the Year award.

There are few more exciting sights in football than the French winger in full flight, although he was out of favour at Newcastle when Kenny Dalglish took over from Keegan. But he insists: 'I have a good feeling about going back to Newcastle. I had two great years there, where the fans are fantastic and the atmosphere is tremendous.



'I am not bitter, even though my last four months were not good for me. I was on the bench most of the time and in the end I left because I was not in the manager's plans. But I don't feel I have anything to prove to Newcastle – they know what I can do.'

Both players were in the Newcastle side that thrashed Spurs 7-1 just a couple of years ago, and Ferdinand admitted he could not understand what had gone wrong at the club he supported as a boy. 'I used to cheer on Spurs when I was a youngster and I felt sorry for them when we won 7-1. I could not understand where it had all gone wrong.'

But there is little danger of a repeat scoreline now that George Graham has instilled a new mean streak in defence.

'George has tightened everything up, so that now we defend from the front,' says Ferdinand.

It has already led to one Wembley final, in the Worthington Cup, and Ferdinand is confident that there is more success to come. 'The spirit here is great and we are going in the right direction at last.'

LIVE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING FRONT ROW 8.15PM

The World Boxing Union may be the least notable organisation to bequeath a world title, but don't tell that to 33-year-old South African Jacob Mofokeng. He won the cruiserweight title last year and tonight defends his crown against British hopeful Robert Norton (pictured) of the West Midlands. Norton is a cocky southpaw who could pull off a surprise win. On the same bill is controversial female boxer Jane Couch, so you can make up your own mind about the rights or wrongs of women in the ring.

LIVE ASTON VILLA V WEST HAM UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

As the end of the season comes into view, both Aston Villa and West Ham should be reflecting on a job well done. Villa led the Premiership early on, but were always likely to lose ground to the likes of Manchester United, Chelsea and Arsenal, while the Hammers have been camped in the top-half and looking a good bet for a European place. Tonight's clash at Villa Park will be well contested because both clubs are managed by men with plenty of pride and contain classy goalscorers in Dion Dublin (pictured) and Ian Wright.

LIVE WEST INDIES V AUSTRALIA SKY SPORTS 3 3.00PM, 5.30PM

It's day one of the fourth Test between the West Indies and Australia and the home team will be relying on the likes of Carl Hooper to steady the ship for a solid start after their 5-0 whitewash in South Africa. At times like these, the senior players in any team have to stand up and be counted. For Australia, that means Shane Warne and new skipper Mark Waugh (pictured), especially as the post-Mark Taylor era for Australian cricket could stall the Aussies' position as the No.1 cricket nation.

LIVE ST JOHNSTONE V GLASGOW RANGERS SKY SPORTS 1 5.30PM

Tonight the Gers visit St Johnstone in search of another win on the road to the title they lost to Glasgow rivals Celtic last year, but it won't be easy as the home team are heading for a European place and a top four finish thanks to a series of solid performances. Unfortunately, those performances haven't included a win against Rangers. In fact, Rangers inflicted a 7-0 defeat on St Johnstone earlier in the season thanks to winger Andrei Kanchelskis (pictured), so expect revenge in the air tonight.

As David Ginola (pictured) and Les Ferdinand return to their old stomping ground as part of a revitalised Tottenham team, Tyneside fans will fear the skills of the duo, especially as the Londoners continue to improve under manager George Graham. Meanwhile, the current Magpie team is also on the up with Ruud Gullit's influence finally making a difference and Alan Shearer beginning to enjoy a run of goalscoring. It's likely to be an entertaining match between two teams who could still rise to a top six finish.

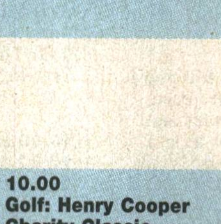
LIVE HALIFAX BLUE SOX V SALFORD REDS SKY SPORTS 1 7.30PM



Tonight's encounter at The Shay is a battle between two clubs on the fringe of the upper echelon of the JJB Super League. This early season clash is important to both teams, and the Blue Sox start favourites due to their self-proclaimed ambition and talented squad, which includes stalwart Kelvin Skerret, working under coach John Pendlebury, who is celebrating his first year in charge. The Reds are ably handled by ex-Wigan scrum half Andy Gregory (pictured), whose coaching savvy will always give Salford a chance of victory.

LIVE ENGLAND V PAKISTAN SKY SPORTS 2 12NOON

With the cricket World Cup looming, the Coca-Cola Cup now holds greater significance than ever, and today's match will test two of the teams battling for that prize. Alec Stewart's England showed glimpses of consistent form in Australia during the winter, however, they also displayed alarming weaknesses under pressure. Only Darren Gough (pictured) looked like a constant threat. Meanwhile, Pakistan's Moin Khan, who knows through experience what it takes to win limited-overs cricket, is likely to be the main trouble maker.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SKY SPORTS 2 9.30PM

Baseball fans witnessed one of the most memorable seasons ever last year as St Louis Cardinal Mark McGwire dazzled with his home run of 70 while being chased by the Chicago Cubs' Sammy Sosa. Meanwhile, the New York Yankees pulled off a record number of wins as they played a thrilling game to scoop the World Series in four wins against San Diego. So this first two-hour game of the week will be much-heralded, especially if we see players like New York Mets' Hideo 'Tornado' Nomo (pictured) in action.

LIVE GILLINGHAM V BOURNEMOUTH SKY SPORTS 3 7.00PM

Both these Division Two teams have got to be admired for aiming to join the post-season knockout competition. The Gills weren't far away from the play-offs last year, despite little attention and no star players. Bournemouth, by contrast, are lucky to still be in the league after recent financial problems and are now proud to be owned by their fans. However, the Gills were as high as fourth recently, while Bournemouth have beaten some of the top contenders, so expect some fireworks tonight.

The two semi-finals take place at the Plymouth Pavillions today. As a warm-up tournament for next month's World Championship, this title is certainly worth winning. Just ask John Higgins (pictured). Last year, his form was stunning as he romped through each round and ended with a confidence-boosting victory over Stephen Hendry in the final. Less than a month later, Higgins took his first World Championship and has looked the man to beat ever since. With all the top names on view, it's a good bet that Higgins will still be around.

FILM FOUR
Ch.04

6.00pm
A River Runs Through It
Craig Sheffer, Brad Pitt
Contemplative drama which is Robert Redford's third film as director. The film examines the lives over the years of two very different brothers who grow up in Montana, using fishing as a tenuous metaphor to distinguish between the men's different personalities. 1992, 118 mins

8.05 Legends of the Fall
Anthony Hopkins, Henry Thomas, Julia Ormond, Brad Pitt
This vast and handsome movie won an Oscar for John Toll's cinematography. It follows an army man who has retired to the Montana Rockies, and whose three sons are constitutionally at odds. The youngest brings his fiancée home and she captures the hearts of both his siblings. 1994, rating 15, 127 mins

10.25 Kalifornia
David Duchovny, Brad Pitt, Juliette Lewis, Michelle Forbes
Offbeat road-movie thriller. A writer and photographer researching a book on serial killers share a car with a paroled ex-con and his girlfriend. As the journey progresses the con acts more deranged and the journalists fear for their lives. 1993, 118 mins

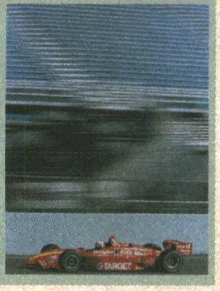
LIVE NASCAR WINSTON CUP SERIES EUROSPORT 6.30PM



The NASCAR series continue with the latest round of championships in Bristol, Tennessee. Last season's title battle was between Jeff Gordon and Alex Zinardi (pictured), with the 27-year-old Gordon proving to be the top man by tying the record of 13 wins in a season – which included the Bristol round. He was also the youngest man to claim three championship titles and won over $9 million. The successes of 1998 led to Gordon being named one of the top 50 NASCAR drivers of all time.

ATP, HONG KONG EUROSPORT 12.30PM

The Salem Open in Hong Kong celebrates its tenth year as a hardcourt event with $350,000 prize money on offer. Considered one of the top sporting and social events in Asia, Michael Chang (pictured) is treated like a god here, as being the best ever Chinese-American player. He has won the event three times, most recently in 1997, but now seems to be entering a permanent decline in form. Kenneth Carlsen of Denmark won the 1998 final in straight sets from Byron Black of Zimbabwe. This programme recounts this year's final.

FILM

Born on the Fourth of July
Sky Cinema 10.00pm
The Oscar-nominated Tom Cruise gives the performance of his career as real-life Vietnam veteran Ron Kovic. Director Oliver Stone napalms the senses in this powerful drama – it was the second instalment in his Vietnam trilogy, which was bookended by Platoon and Heaven and Earth.

GENERAL

Twin Peaks
Sci-Fi 9.00pm
This dark, quirky cult series has so many odd characters and weird stories that, no matter how many times you watch it, there's always something new. In this episode, Cooper and Truman have tea with the Log Lady and discover a macabre crime scene in the woods.

LIVE WILLIAM HILL BLUE RIBAND FINAL SKY SPORTS 1 8.00PM

Coverage this year from Hall Green in Birmingham, following the event's transfer from Wembley. The Midlands track is one of the most comfortable in the country and makes an ideal venue for this prestigious event. The competition carries a prize of £6,000 and was won last year by He Knows, trained by Barry Draper. The race is recognised as an important middle-distance event and usually throws up some useful runners with Derby ambitions. Other previous winners have included Phantom Flash, Blue Murlen and Westmead Harry.

LIVE FLECHE WALLONNE EUROSPORT 1.00PM

Eurosport is screening no fewer than nine cycling events this month and today's pedal-powered coverage comes from Flèche Wallonne in Belgium – a race which attracts a host of top riders every year. Started in 1936, this classic Belgian race has some of the greatest ever cyclists as champions, including home hero Eddy Merckx. The race belonged to the Italians at the beginning of the Nineties, but the Frenchman Laurent Jalabert (pictured) won in 1995 and 1997 and the Danish Bo Hamburger last year.

EUROPEAN WEIGHTLIFTING CHAMPIONSHIP EUROSPORT 9.30PM

Taking place in La Coruña, Spain, the competition features all 15 weight categories, eight for men and seven for women, in both the snatch and the clean-and-jerk. As ever, all competitors are allowed three attempts in each lift. The snatch is the more technical and more explosive of the two lifts with its single movement, but more weight is usually lifted in the clean-and-jerk, so both categories have their fans. The championship will be dominated again this year by Bulgarians, Germans and Russians.

LIVE BARNSLEY V SUNDERLAND SKY SPORTS 3 7.30PM

These days Barnsley savour their memories of the Premiership. New manager John Hendrie has had a tough time replacing the much-admired Danny Wilson, and tonight he tests himself against the Nationwide's current top team – Peter Reid's Sunderland. Hendrie has also lost some key players like centre forward Ashley Ward. Meanwhile, Sunderland are already as good as many Premiership teams, but still need to hold their form for an entire season. The return of striker Kevin Phillips (pictured) has helped.

It's qualifying time at the Malaysian World Championship, one of the most thrilling races in recent years. In 1998, Australian Mick Doohan (pictured) won his fifth consecutive world title in the 500CC category leaving Max Biaggi to take second place – not bad for his debut 500CC season. However, Biaggi continues with Yamaha and will be a considerable threat overall as he proved to be the team's number one rider thoughout the intensive four-day test at the newly-built Sepang circuit.

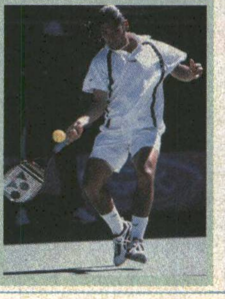
LIVE ATP SUPER 9, MONTE CARLO EUROSPORT 9.30AM



As with everything in this delightful Mediterranean beauty spot, the men's Super 9 tournament in Monte Carlo is breathtaking for all the right reasons. Carlos Moya of Spain won the event last year by beating Frenchman Cedric Pioline. The slow clay courts give the Europeans a big advantage, but with the French Open a little over a month away, every ball struck is in preparation for the Grand Slam event. Other contenders are former champion Marcello Rios (pictured) and this year's top man, Yevgeny Kafelnikov.

LIVE FIFA UNDER-20 CHAMPIONSHIP EUROSPORT 4.30PM, 7.30PM

The tenth championship competition reaches the semi-final stages in Nigeria today. England were said to be one of the favourites when the 24-team tournament began, and here's hoping they're still involved today, along with the Republic of Ireland, who also qualified. Brazil, as is usually the case in all football tournaments, have won more youth championships than any other country with three gold medals and two silvers, but rivals Argentina are actually the titleholders from the event in Malaysia two years ago.

LIVE BURY V BOLTON WANDERERS SKY SPORTS 2 7.00PM

Gigg Lane is the venue for this Lancashire derby as Bolton continue to vie for the top of the league. But as the possibility of promotion comes closer, Wanderers will start to get twitchy. Tonight they visit neighbours Bury, one of the division's weaker teams, and should easily repeat their success from last November, when they won 4-1. However, no victory is earned without effort – experienced players brought in by manager Colin Todd, including Dean Holdsworth (pictured) and Bob Taylor, need to score the goals that win matches.

LIVE BERLIN THUNDER V SCOTTISH CLAYMORES SKY SPORTS 2 6.00PM

The SuperBowl is a distant memory for most American football fans by now, but NFL Europe's season is well under way. This year, for the first time, there is no team to support in England. Instead, all the British interest lies with the Scottish Claymores who tonight take on the league's newest team, Berlin Thunder. Commentator Nick Halling (pictured) is your host for this live game from Germany where the local pro team is even more popular than the stateside version.

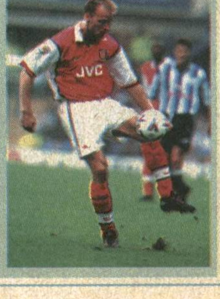
FOOTBALL SPECIAL: PFA AWARDS SKY SPORTS 1 11.00PM



No sportsman is more honoured than when he receives acknowledgement from his fellow professionals, and tonight's PFA Awards is just such an event. Every player in each of the four divisions in English professional football gets to choose the best team of their league. The ultimate award is the Players' Player, a prize which has recently been dominated by foreigners such as Gianfranco Zola, Dennis Bergkamp (pictured) and Eric Cantona. The show will mix recorded action with interviews and footage of the awards ceremony.

LIVE HUNGARY V ENGLAND SKY SPORTS 2 7.00PM

Which will it be – farewell to King Kevin or the celebration of a new era dawning? England face Hungary in a friendly which is the final of four matches of which part-time coach Keegan agreed to take charge. But a victory tonight (and good results in the previous three matches) could create an unstoppable wave of public demand for Kev to stay on to see England, and players like Darren Anderton (pictured), triumph in the European Championships next year. A game not to miss.

LIVE ITALIAN OPEN SKY SPORTS 1 1.00PM

The Italian Open begins today at CircoloGolf in Torino and was won last year by Patrik Sjoland. The Swede was one of the few successes for European golf in the opening World Championship event at the end of February and is the top Swedish prospect for the Ryder Cup. His chief rivals for the title will probably be Italian Costantino Rocca and Spain's José-Maria Olazábal (pictured), plus the growing band of young British talent like 1999 tournament winners David Howell and Paul Lawrie.

1999 GOLDEN BOWLING BALL EUROSPORT 10.00PM

The 1999 Golden Bowling Ball Brunswick Tour includes four legs in Germany and Austria with a final in Lille, France. There's an overall prize fund of around £200,000, which will be split between the best 36 men and 12 women. This programme covers the third leg from Vienna. The current champion is Karl-Peter Greulich from Germany, who won from a host of Scandinavians. For the women Paulina Aalto of Finland is the current No.1, and it's her competition which features tonight.

Sensational ★★★ Stimulating ★★ Satisfactory ★

Aries

21 March-20 April ★★★

SUN and Jupiter in alignment signal a spectacular start to the month. Now is the time to reassess your goals and embrace new ideas, relationships or pastimes. Something you set your heart on last year will soon come to fruition.

Taurus

21 April-21 May ★★

WITH Mars motionless in your marriage house unresolved tensions look set to continue. If you want to take steps towards reconciliation, try accepting responsibility for your mistakes rather than projecting blame onto others.

Gemini

22 May-21 June ★★

WORDS spoken in haste could cause problems in a close relationship, so take care with timing and self-expression this month. With emotional storms forecast, you must curb those erratic impulses and shield yourself with diplomacy.

Cancer

22 June-23 July ★

YOU MAY have to muster up inner strength in order to survive a tough start to the month. But your innate tenacity and sheer determination should hep you overcome any adversity. by late April you will be both stronger and wiser.

Leo

24 July-23 August ★★

YOUR tendency to over-control events usually raises anxiety levels so it's fortunate the planets render you relaxed this month. Not only will you have others eating out of your hand, but problems have a way of working themselves out.

Virgo

24 August-23 September ★★

MERCURY is back in action, lifting restrictions and bringing new people into your life. Pent-up feelings will be released or you'll be given the green light on a project. Either way, team work will bring the best results.

Libra

24 September-23 October ★★

YOUR easy-going nature may be shattered this month as you defy authority and demand respect. You usually tolerate bad behaviour for the sake of peace, but now you'll be more likely to speak your mind and accept the consequences.

Scorpio

24 October-22 November ★★

YOU MAY be hungry for action, but Mars will keep the brakes on until June. Rather than allowing feelings of frustration to fester, channel pent-up energy into plans and preparations for the second half of the year.

Sagittarius

23 November-22 December ★★

GET SET for a rollercoaster ride duing the first half of April. It seems you'll either blindly commit to a risky venture or hurtle headlong into a disastrous relationship. Luckily, by the month's end you'll adopt a more commonsense approach.

Capricorn

23 December-20 January ★★

A RELATIONSHIP that has been hanging by a thread may soon be severed. And the affairs of the heart about to take a dramatic turn, many of you will change your living arrangements or alter your appearance in some way.

Aquarius

21 January-19 February ★★

YOU MAY have been focussed on affairs at home, but now Jupiter encourages you to look beyond your backyard. Transition and personal growth are forecast for your sign, so be prepared for a journey into unknown territory.

Pisces

20 February-20 March ★★

FRAGILE feelings or a sense of loss could make you more introspective than usual. But with impetuous energy in your sign, you would be better to fight fire with fire. Don't be afraid to speak your mind and share your emotions.
